

Adamowski or Ald. Edward J. Kaindl, group four, and either Ald. Thomas O. Wallace or Dorsey R. Crowe, group five, which are mostly on the north side.

Because of the short time before the inauguration of the mayor elect and the new council the committee on committees probably will remain in Chicago. The hottest fight will be for the post of chairman of the finance committee should Ald. John A. Richter, the present chairman, fail to be chosen elected by the council which the judiciary committee will start next week.

Three Seek Richter Place.

Ald. Koster, Ross A. Woodhull, and John E. Clark are active candidates for the place, which is the most important chairmanship on the list. Ald. William R. O'Toole is being groomed for chairman of the railroads and industries committee, Anton J. Cernak's old post. Ald. Thomas O. Wallace, it is understood, will be restored to a place in the finance committee, from which Thompson's removal was a punishment for his support of the expert fee grab.

FORTY-NINTH FIGHT CLOSE

Whether Ald. E. L. Frankhauser or John E. Maloney, an undertaker who conducted an old time campaign, replete with handshaking, red fire, and banners, will represent the Forty-ninth ward may still be going last night. Police returns show Frankhauser's election by 157 votes, but Maloney claims he won by 215 votes. The ward will be canvassed today.

The vigor Maloney's campaign is shown by the fact that Lueder, Republican majority candidate, carried the ward by 215. Frankhauser, a Republican, carried it by only 157. Police returns show Frankhauser's election by 157 votes, but Maloney claims he won by 215 votes. The ward will be canvassed today.

"JOES" LEAD COUNCIL

In the aldermanic lounge the council newcomers and the "Jame ducks" the pass out with the London-Thompson regime got a good many chuckles out of rehearsing Tuesday's aldermanic elections.

It was discovered that the council has a blackboard and a blackboard. The former is Ald. Joseph Higgins Smith and the latter Patrick F. Ryan, business agent for the horsehoers' union. He is a hardy human with outstanding qualities and a record of wins in rough and tumble fights. Ald. Smith is a trifle heavy, having been an alderman for nine years.

Ald. John F. Ryan, the council member, still holds the golden length of service among the present aldermen. He has been a councilman thirty-four years.

It was learned that Ald. Elmer Stanley Adamick is springing a new one in his campaign. Coming from the district between Kinzie and Division streets along Milwaukee avenue, Adamick made a bit by plotting civic leaders in the ward that he will hold a monthly conference with them to discuss the needs of the ward.

Thomas J. Bowler, elected from the Forty-ninth ward, will have the benefit of the years of council service of his uncle, Ald. James B. Bowler.

"I made some mistakes in my council career," the uncle said yesterday. "If this kid will listen to me he can stay in the council until he dies, and I mean to make him listen."

Alderman Elmer Donald S. McKinley celebrated his election at the fifteenth wedding anniversary celebration of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James R. McKinley, at a dinner in the Tower room of the Union League club last night.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley came to this country from Greenock, Scotland, in 1884. Among their seven children there has never been a death. They are the parents of John McKinley, vice president of Marshall Field & Co.; Robert W. McKinley, election commissioner; James McKinley, an employee of the Illinois Central railroad; and three daughters, Mrs. Robert Bohm, Mrs. I. L. Solor, and Miss Jean McKinley.

SEERS DRAW UP CABINET LISTS AS DEVER RESTS

No Promises Given, Says Mayor Elect.

Mayor Elect William E. Dever spent yesterday receiving congratulations by word of mouth, telephone, and telegraph, and left Chicago at night for three days of rest and cabinet making at French Lick, Ind.

"Don't make me talk now. Wait until I have done something," was his reply to the thousands and one questions which were asked at him all day between handshakes and well wishes at his home at 5901 Kenmore avenue.

The mayor-elect added that he has given no promises as to cabinet positions and none has been asked of him by the Democratic leaders who aided him in his campaign.

Political Seers Draft List.

Nevertheless there was a buzz of predictions as to probable appointments as the two special cars pulled out over the "Monon" railroad at 8 o'clock last night. Political prognosticators compiled a "preferred list" of names, many of whom, it is believed, will appear on the cabinet roll when the new mayor takes office on April 16.

Francis X. Bunch, new attorney for the election board, who was mentioned prominently as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor, was declared to have a good chance to succeed Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson when Judge Dever takes the municipal helm.

Capt. Morgan A. Collins, who has had experience as chief of police, was declared to have the inside track to succeed Chief Fitzmorris, who has sent word to Democratic headquarters that he wishes to retire to private life.

Chief of Detectives Hughes, Assistant Chief Alcock, and Capt. Hartling and Gleason are also mentioned to head the police department.

Merriman on Schoolboard?

Other names on the preferred list are those of Martin J. O'Brien, Col. A. A. Sprague, Ald. John A. Richter, Michael L. Igoe, William H. Sexton, Stephen A. Foster, Raymond Robbins, Ald. James B. Bowler, John P. Gibbons, Oscar W. Ecklund, Harold E. Lohr, Mrs. Katherine Fairbank, Mrs. Anna L. Smith, Morris Sabath, James C. O'Brien and State Representative Thomas J. Bowler.

Former Ald. Charles E. Merriman, one of the Republican leaders who helped to run up the Dever 103,600 plurality, will be offered a membership on the school board, it is believed. If he accepts, it is predicted that, through the influence of the mayor, he may be made president of the board when Dr. John D. Robertson's term as president expires in May.

May Reappoint Hanson, Greenleaf.

There is at present one vacancy on the board, caused by the resignation of Mrs. Dorothy Ginsberg. The terms of Trustees Hart Hanson and Francis E. Greenleaf expire on May 1. Hanson has led the fight for a cleanup of school board methods; Greenleaf is said to be a friend of Judge Dever. Both may be reappointed.

On the other hand, Trustees Albert H. Severinghaus and Edwin S. Davis supported the "Democratic" majority ticket. The new mayor has no power to remove them if he wished to do so.

THE TRIPPER caravan is now proceeding across the Sahara desert in quest of the Tauregs, who live in the Massif of Hoggar. The expedition is setting at Beni Abbes, an oasis town, and will start next Monday for Adrar.

Their trials on charges of conspiracy in connection with school board hoodlums may not be held for many weeks. It was predicted they may join in a harmony school program.

May Cause Year's Delay

On the other hand, should the old London-Thompson crowd wish it can keep the new mayor from exercising a cleansing hand on school board matters for more than a year, for it will not be until the spring of 1924 that sufficient vacancies occur in the board to permit a majority of Deverites to get control.

Canvases of Tuesday's 713,000 vote were begun yesterday by the election board. Twenty-five wards were completed and it is probable the board will be able to issue the proclamation of election on Saturday and to hand out certificates of election to the new mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, and aldermen on Monday.

Under the law, Judge Dever may claim his office at once, following the calling of a special council meeting to approve his bond. It has been tentatively decided, however, that this meeting will not be held until April 16—one week from Monday.

With Judge Dever on the cabinet making trip, which will last only three or four days, are such leaders in the county Democracy as George E. Brennan, County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr, Timothy J. Crowe, Michael Rosenbergs, drainage board trustee, Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the Dever campaign committee, and Clayton F. Smith, retiring city treasurer.

MOCK TRIALS AT TANNERY FORUM FOR NEW MAYOR

Mock trials during the noon hour at a tannery twenty-five years ago, in which William E. Dever "practiced" defending a fellow tanner, brought him his first client and started him on the path to becoming mayor of Chicago. The tannery "prisoner," who was also the first client, told his "I knew him when" story yesterday. He is Patrolman Thomas Murray of the Sheffield avenue station, and he related the details to Sgt. Steve Barry.

"Murray in those days was working in the Gray-Clark & Engel tannery on Goose Island," said Barry. "Dever was a youngster then, too, and he and James Young, now a successful lawyer, were much laughed at for bringing their law books to the tannery to study during the noon hour."

A Hand Picked Prisoner

"Seeking for an opportunity to test their oratory and pleading ability, the pair selected Murray as a 'prisoner,' upon whom to exercise their gifts. Each day he was charged with a different crime. Dever always defended him and Young acted as prosecutor."

"Murray would eat a sandwich as he sat in the dock, and often the 'lawyers' would stop for a bite between arguments. Fellow employees of the future mayor would sometimes hurl 'whitener' balls at the trial lawyers, as the trial to them was just foolishness."

"Then Dever got his license to practice law, left the tannery, hung out his shingle, and waited around the Chicago avenue police court for some one to defend. Murray was his man. He had been arrested for picketing during a strike at the tannery. Four times Murray arrested in a week."

"DEVER WILL BE BOSS"

"William E. Dever will be chief executive in fact as well as in name as long as he occupies the mayor's chair." This was the verdict of Dr. J. M. Fitzgerald, character analyst, after studying a campaign picture of the mayor-elect. "No man or group of men will ever rule Dever."

He pointed out the unusual height of the crown of the mayor-elect's head. "Note the broad forehead, the breadth of the nose and jaw, and the strong chin," he said. "No man built like that is going to allow the other fellow to do his thinking for him or stampede him into doing anything he doesn't wish to do. But it should not be assumed that Mr. Dever is of stubborn makeup. The general contour of his features indicates he possesses a well balanced temperament."

The new mayor's every instinct is to be fair and square with foe as well as with friend, Dr. Fitzgerald believes. "But," he added, "his eyes are penetrating and shrewd and he is full of caution. It would not be easy to put anything over on him. This quality bodes well for the financial welfare of Chicago."

VATICAN WINS FIRST TILT WITH SPAIN CABINET

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
MADRID, April 4.—Spain is waging the cabinet situation critically. Although no information was published of today's actions, it is apparent that the Marquis de Albuquerque, the premier, does not feel equal to the job of fighting the Vatican.

This was indicated when Senor Pedragal, minister of finance, who is one of the frankest of the reformists and who formerly was a leader of the republicans, who at present are pledged to insure equality for all religions, resigned. The Marquis de Albuquerque replaced him with Senor Villanueva, who is not pledged to any definite stand on the church question.

Accused of having shot Alexander Farnas, 5 years old, in the right foot while the boy was skating on a creek at West 45th street and South Hamilton avenue, William Griffin, 2724 West 29th street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $5,000 on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Griffin, who is a watchman for the Santa Fe railroad, denied the charge.

U. S. Agents Allege Traffic in "Dope."

Dr. Michael T. Naughton, a physician for thirty years, was yesterday by government agents connected with what they claim is the biggest dope plot uncovered since enactment of the anti-narcotic law.

Dr. Naughton served overseas in the world war as a major in heavy artillery and saw active duty in Cuba as a captain in the Spanish-American conflict. He was taken into custody by United States Deputy John Oros while a score of agents were waiting in his study in the Capitol building for his arrest. He is charged with distributing more than $2,000 half grain tablets illegally during 1923.

Indicted by U. S. Grand Jury
Narcotic agents illustrated the attitude of his alleged operations pointing out that one quantity of morphine is a dose for a normal man and that two grains are sufficient to kill a nonaddict.

The physician had been indicted by the federal grand jury previous to his arrest, principally on evidence secured by Capt. William F. W. Assistant United States district attorney in charge of narcotic investigations, and Federal Narcotic Agent, through Dr. Naughton's dope register, which had been seized by Agent Ulmer. Federal agents as having purchased twenty morphine each every few days and jurors that they never had used any narcotics from Dr. Naughton. One of the "patients" indicted but never heard of the fact that he never had purchased narcotics in his life.

Charge Fraudulent Records
According to government officials, Naughton accounted for 13,000 grains of morphine from records and has obtained an 17,000 grains for which he is to produce records. When asked about the latter, Dr. Naughton said that he had left his office in his car, which was stolen. He was recovered in Akron, Ohio, the property in it was intact and the register was missing.

In addition to the drugs which appeared from Dr. Naughton's possession, agents found 2,500 grains of morphine, three bottles of which were sealed or labeled as required by law.

Government agents expressed their amazement at the fact that Dr. Naughton's vast narcotics—some holding to the belief that he has been "peddled" in the hands of the patients in the many of the scores of patients who are known to visit Naughton's offices regularly and familiar with his methods of dispensing drugs.

In a statement given out after arrest, Dr. Naughton was inclined to place the blame for his predicament on Marion Floyd, a nurse, and Dr. Carl Anderson, from whom he said, he inherited much of his stock.

"When I returned from overseas at the close of the war I found myself in a suitable state of affairs," Naughton said. "Then I had the opportunity to share my present with Dr. Anderson, who then had Anderson Addict, He says, 'I learned later that Dr. Anderson was an addict and that many of his patients used narcotics in some form. Two years ago Dr. Anderson and for a time I was designated as a source for narcotics from his office.'"

Traffic in "Dope."

Dr. Michael T. Naughton, a Chicago physician for thirty years, was arrested yesterday by government agents in connection with what they declare to be the biggest dope plot uncovered in Chicago since enactment of the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

Dr. Naughton served overseas during the world war as a major in the army artillery and saw active campaigning in Cuba as a captain during the Spanish-American conflict.

Naughton, who was taken in custody by United States Deputy Marshal Oscar Oros while a score of patients were waiting in his elaborate office in the Capitol building, 135 North Dearborn street, is charged with having more than $1,000,000 worth of grain morphine tablets illegally during 1932.

Indicted by U. S. Grand Jury.
Narcotic agents illustrated the magnitude of his alleged operations by exhibiting that one-quarter of a grain is a dose for a normal person while two grains are sufficient to kill a person.

The physician had been indicted by the federal grand jury previous to his arrest for a normal person while two grains are sufficient to kill a person.

According to government charges, Dr. Naughton accounted for 11,000 grains of morphine through fraudulent records and has obtained more than 17,000 grains for which he is unable to produce records. When interviewed about the matter, Dr. Naughton said he had let his register in his car, which was stolen. The register was recovered in Akron, O., and the property in it was intact except the register was missing, agents said.

In addition to the drugs which have appeared from Dr. Naughton's possession, agents found 2,500 grains of morphine, three bottles of which he has no seals or labels as required law.

Government agents expressed their surprise at the fact that Dr. Naughton's office was so well equipped with the methods of dispensing drugs.

When I returned from overseas at the end of the war I found difficulty in getting a suitable office, Dr. Naughton said. "Then I had the opportunity to share my present suite with Dr. Anderson, who then had it."

Anderson added, he says, "I learned later that Dr. Anderson was an addict and that many of his patients used narcotics in some form or other. Two years ago Dr. Anderson and for a time I was besieged for morphine for his patients."

patients. I retained his nurse until about six months ago, and if there have been any irregularities I am sure that they are due to juggling of records by her. For a long time I did not suspect that she was an addict, but when I did I discharged her, and her present whereabouts is unknown to me."

When Dr. Naughton's attention was called to the fact that all of the government charges are based on alleged transactions completed months after Dr. Anderson's death he shifted his explanation to a discussion of drug conditions in Chicago.

"There are 50,000 addicts and 5,000 peddlers in Chicago," he said. "Many of the addicts are highly respectable and would not traffic with a peddler. If they appeal to the government they are sent to the bridge. Reputable doctors must take care of them."

"Many addicts do not realize that they are addicted, having acquired the habit through the use of certain kinds of patent cough medicines containing codeine. Their craving, however, is none the less pronounced because they are not aware of their condition."

Cast Doubt on Register.
Among the persons listed in the "dope register" as users of morphine, who would have to be addicts in order to absorb even half of the amounts credited to them, were many of strikingly healthy appearance. It is said that these persons—including an artist's model, a woman who weighs 250 pounds, and a rugged man of 70, who testified he had worked seven days a week for years—appeared before the grand jury just after the jurors had heard testimony of several typical "dopers." The contrast in the appearance of the two groups of witnesses is said to have done much toward convincing the jury of the questionable character of Dr. Naughton's narcotic register.

One man named in the dope register was indicted as having obtained 750 grains within several months. The man was found by Agent Ulmer, although he has not lived in the street mentioned for several years.

39 PERSONS OR FIRMS NAMED IN CRAFT TRUE BILL

Brundage Aids Map Plan
of School Indictment.

Defendants named in the school board conspiracy indictment yesterday received a copy of the bill of particulars, amplifying the charges in the indictment, as ordered by Judge Charles A. McDonald. The document, drawn up by aids of Attorney General Brundage, gives the names of thirty-nine persons or firms under that part of the order that requires specifications of "what contracts or transactions with the board were fraudulent and made pursuant to the conspiracy."

Fred Lundin's steel door companies, the insurance companies in which he and Virtus Rohm were interested, Patrick Moynihan's phonograph company, and the Severinghaus Printing Company are named. The Fitzgerald boiler deal, the "dummy" concerns operated by relatives of Edwin S. Davis, and the electrical contracts obtained by a nephew of Lundin appear in the list.

Plan of Conspiracy.
In compliance with that part of Judge McDonald's order that the state must set forth "what means were employed or were to be employed to accomplish the conspiracy" the state replies:

"The means alleged in the first ten counts of the indictment (which charges a $1,000,000 plot) have reference to false, fraudulent, or collusive sales of divers goods, wares, merchandise, materials, supplies, labor, and insurance to the board of education. . . in which sales and transactions it was or was to be falsely represented and pretended to the said board of education that the goods, etc., so to be purchased were of the quality, kind, character, and quantity ordered. . . when in fact the goods, etc., were to be of inferior quality and of less quantity than called for and at exorbitant and noncompetitive prices and in excess of the fair and reasonable market value of said goods, etc."

False Invoices Alleged.
Further along in the bill, supplementing the foregoing, is this statement:

"And to present false and fraudulent invoices pertaining to such sales and transactions, and each of them, and to thereby obtain vouchers and money from the said board of education. . ."

In the twenty-seven specifications under the "fraudulent contract" order all of the following appear:

Fitzgerald Boiler works, Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Charles E. Ward, A. L. Roberts, The Haworth Photograph company, O. W. Hunkle & Co., Virtus O. Rohm & Co., the Southern Surety company, A. & E. Anderson company, Central Metallic Door company, National Steel Door company, Milligan Automatic Door company, Utica Supply company, Apex Supply company, American Sealing company, Leonard Peterson company, Newton & Holl company, Hotel and Restaurant Specialties company, American Rug and Carpet company, Acme Steam Heating and Ventilating company, Devon Electric company, Interstate Electric company, Charles Wilkens Electric company, David Walsh, MacDonald-Katchuck Printing company, Aggerbeck-Bullins and Printing company, the Aggerbeck company, Jens P. Aggerbeck, Severinghaus Printing company, Chest Creek Coal company, James C. Michaels, Charles Coal company, Timothy C. Charles, American Book company, Nathan Brush company, International Electric Lamp company, Whitaker Paper company, Tootsey Varnish company, and the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company.

Seek to Prove Guilt.
The prosecution indicates by this bill of particulars that it will seek to prove grafting by some of the defendants in certain deals with each of these concerns. Some of the items in the bill cover only one briefly described transaction. The balance specify "all contracts or transactions" during a stated period.

This is regarded by defense attorneys as seeking to avoid the necessity of going into details as to the manner in which the state will contend the school system was defrauded. The state prosecutors had argued to Judge McDonald they would be unable to describe minutely in the bill each overt act, conversation, or exchange of money.

To Argue Today.
They had fought against the necessity of furnishing the bill at all, claiming they were privileged to withhold the information until the actual trial begins. The state and defense will argue this morning on the completeness of the state's answer.

It was interlarded with many pages of manuscripts in his own hand writing as well as hundreds of interlined corrections and alterations. Mr. De Wyckoff sailed for America Saturday on the Aquitania with his treasure. The price was not disclosed.

COMPERS READY IF HARDING ASKS OPEN SHOP ISSUE

Says It Won't for Dever in Chicago.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(Special.)—If the Harding administration declares in favor of the open shop as a political issue in the 1934 campaign, organized labor will be ready to meet the challenge and fight to the limit.

This defiant challenge was the answer today of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, back at his office again after weeks of serious illness, to dispatches from Florida to the effect that some of President Harding's closest advisers notably Gen. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, were urging him to make the open shop one of the main planks of his platform for reelection. The president has given no intimation that such is his intention.

Calls It "Facetious Reaction."
Mr. Gompers called attention to the fact that the reports from Florida indicated that those urging the President to make the open shop an issue did not expect results to be attained through legislative action.

"The logical deduction," Mr. Gompers said, "is that antagonism to labor is not to be predicated upon the assumption of power outside of legislation. I think that it bears comparison to the Fascist in Italy, and I wonder when they are going to choose as their leader, the Mussolini of American reaction, the discussion brought out, but can be used "in any situation where the cause of death can be removed quickly."

First Used in World War.
The first use of it upon the human heart was in Belgium, during the world war, when soldiers terribly mutilated by shells were restored by it and accompanying surgery, according to Dr. Crile. Previously Dr. G. W. Crile had experimented upon dogs, on which the reactions were not so satisfactory.

Dr. Crile urged surgeons to make general use of adrenalin, and advocated that hospitals be well supplied with it. Dr. Nelson M. Percy added to Dr. Crile's report details of a case of a patient dying under an anesthetic, who was revived, but who passed away six hours later, due, he believed, to his poor physical condition and the severity of the operation.

The adrenal glands' secretions, according to medical authorities, control the emotions of courage and fear.

Harding's Friends Surprised.
Augusta, Ga., April 4.—The statement issued in Washington tonight by Samuel Gompers warning the Republican party against taking a stand in the 1934 campaign in favor of the open shop was received with surprise here tonight by members of President Harding's vacation party.

Mr. Harding himself made no comment, but other members of the party indicated that the Republican party would take no such anti-labor position. This was made known immediately upon publication of reports that pressure had been brought to bear to have the party declare itself for the open shop.

TELL OF REVIVING DEAD BY ADRENAL GLAND SECRETION

Many "Ex-Corpses"
Now at Work, Claim.

Men who have died—legally and scientifically—several times are now alive and working, due to the use of adrenalin, an extract of the adrenal glands, in a new method of resuscitation, according to reports made last night at a joint meeting of the Chicago Medical society and the Chicago Society of Anesthetists.

Dr. Dennis W. Crile of Chicago, who with his uncle, Dr. G. W. Crile of Cleveland, originated the method, read reports of cases in which persons were revived half an hour after they were pronounced dead, died again, and were revived again at intervals, ultimately recovering completely.

Injected Into Heart.
"Life can be restored by this method provided the cause of death can be quickly removed," Dr. Crile stated. With prompt and fearless treatment the patient may be made to live again.

"So far I have used the treatment only in cases of persons who were pronounced dead, not only by me but by other surgeons. Hereafter I purpose to employ it upon persons who are dying."

The method as described by Dr. Crile calls for large injections of adrenalin directly into the heart. This organ being pierced with a hypodermic needle. Sometimes manipulation of the heart in the hands of the surgeon is employed to assist the respiration is assisted by mechanical reproduction of the processes of breathing.

It finds its greatest utility in operations during which patients die from the anesthetic, the discussion brought out, but can be used "in any situation where the cause of death can be removed quickly."

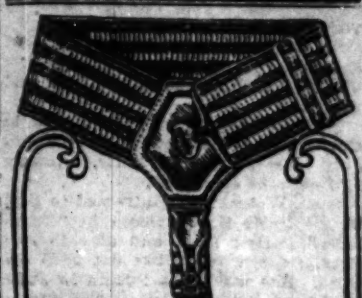

First Used in World War.
The first use of it upon the human heart was in Belgium, during the world war, when soldiers terribly mutilated by shells were restored by it and accompanying surgery, according to Dr. Crile. Previously Dr. G. W. Crile had experimented upon dogs, on which the reactions were not so satisfactory.

Dr. Crile urged surgeons to make general use of adrenalin, and advocated that hospitals be well supplied with it. Dr. Nelson M. Percy added to Dr. Crile's report details of a case of a patient dying under an anesthetic, who was revived, but who passed away six hours later, due, he believed, to his poor physical condition and the severity of the operation.

The adrenal glands' secretions, according to medical authorities, control the emotions of courage and fear.

Wife of Suicide Cleared of Misconduct Charges

Judge Morgan yesterday cleared Mrs. Albert J. Walker of any charges of misconduct, as alleged by her husband who killed himself last Saturday when served with a warrant on charges of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife. She testified that her husband had been acting queerly for three weeks before he committed suicide. A collection was made to enable Mrs. Walker and her three children to return to her home in Birmingham, Ala.

FARRAR DIVORCE CASE JURY TRIAL NOT YET DECIDED

New York, April 4.—(Special.)—Supreme Court Justice O'Malley today reserved decision in the application of Miss Stella Farrar, actress, for a stay of the proceedings in the divorce suit brought by Geraldine Farrar against Lou Tellegen, pending an appeal to the Appellate division to grant Miss Farrar a jury trial to clear her name.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Miss Farrar, reiterated his denial of a dispatch from New Orleans, published yesterday, crediting Tellegen with the statement that Miss Farrar had broken an agreement with him not to disclose the names of any co-respondents, or that there was any suggestion of collusion between them.

Mr. Untermyer said he had been informed by Miss Farrar that she has not seen Tellegen since she closed the doors of her home against him on July 28, 1921; and that there never has at any time been an agreement between them.

CANNA WALSKA REACHES PARIS FOR OPERABILLS

PARIS, April 4.—Canna Walska, wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, arrived here from the liner Paris this afternoon and was received by a small crowd of admirers, all chattering in French, Russian and Polish, and all bringing flowers.

Mme. Walska was blooming in a squirrel coat, a gray hat with flowing veil, and a huge bouquet of orchids.

"The climate of California is vile," she said. "I like storms and plenty of them. California is too smooth and pretty."

She said that her husband was in California, where she will return in July after singing in Paris, Warsaw and perhaps elsewhere.

Mme. Walska has contracted to sing at the Paris Grand Opera in "Rigoletto" during May, and also in one French opera which has not been decided. She will go to Poland in June to fill an engagement.

"Mathilde is going to marry Max Ozer, certainly," she said. "Nobody ever suggested that she wouldn't. Mathilde doesn't change her mind."

FLORIDA SOLONS ORDER QUIZ ON TABERT'S DEATH

Tallahassee, Fla., April 4.—Indications of a legislative investigation into the death of Martin Tabert of Munich, N. D., alleged to have died in a private convalescent camp in Dixie county, early in 1921, as the result of brutal treatment, were seen in the actions of both houses of the Florida assembly in the second session of their biennial sitting today.

The house responded promptly to a resolution from the North Dakota legislature asking for a full investigation into the affair, by sending it to a committee of five with instructions to report back tomorrow. In the speeches preceding this action, however, was seen the real temper of the lower body.

Speaker after speaker indicated they knew of the details of Tabert's death and wanted the house to make an investigation. Tabert was sentenced from Leon county for riding a freight train.

LOVE REBUFFED, GIRL TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE

The indifference of a man with whom she was infatuated, last night led Miss Helen Pautette, 22 years old, to attempt suicide by taking poison in her room at 323 South Racine avenue.

Summoned by the girl's screams, Mrs. Minnie Espinoza, the landlady, called the police, who ineffectually tried to pour an antidote between her set teeth. She was placed in an ambulance and started on her way to the county hospital, but the police car broke down and that of E. C. Britchard, 906 Magnolia avenue, was commandeered to complete the rescue. She is expected to recover.

While a dancing teacher, Miss Pautette met Arthur McDonald, 225 South Racine avenue, whose failure to respond to her advances is believed to have caused the attempt at suicide. Lately she was employed as a waitress. She quit this position last Monday.

AGED MAN ASSAULTED.
Louis Hühner, 74 years old, 115 Park avenue, River Forest, was found dead on the dining room floor of his home yesterday.

LAW HOLDS FORT AS KLAN WARS OVER LEADERSHIP

'Old Skip' Leads Bastrop
Band to 'Emperor's' Aid.

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—While Imperial Emperor William J. Simmons and Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans started counter drives for control of the Ku Klux Klan through the courts, members of the order began reaching Atlanta today as a result of the fray. The meantime Sheriff J. J. Lowry of Fulton county ruled over the imperial klans, general headquarters of the order, and Judge E. D. Thomas will resume hearing in the case tomorrow morning.

Klanmen are reported arriving from all sections of the nation, some flocking to the standard of Emperor Simmons, while others are rallying around the faction headed by the imperial wizard.

"Old Skip" on the Job.
At the height of the arrival of the various delegations Capt. J. K. Skipwith with thirty-three other klansmen, representing the Morehouse parish, La. Klan, stepped from a train and reported immediately to Emperor Simmons' headquarters, Klansville. Capt. Skipwith, who admits he is a small time later emerged from a conference with the emperor, cocked his head and said over his right eye, and exclaimed: "If there is to be a break between Col. Simmons and Dr. Evans, then I will support Simmons."

The old war veteran figured prominently in the state of Louisiana's investigation into black hooded bands' activities in Morehouse parish.

Warrants for Klanmen.
Shortly after Judge Thomas ordered Sheriff Lowry to continue at his post at the imperial palace two warrants were issued for N. N. Purvis, cashier at the imperial palace, charging him with embezzlement of $80,000, and for J. J. McKinnon, chief of the investigation department, charging embezzlement of $24,000. The warrants were sworn to by E. J. Jones, an associate of Emperor Simmons.

Early today Imperial Wizard Evans secured a modified order dissolving the Simmons faction from the imperial palace, the latter having lined control yesterday by securing a temporary injunction against Wizard Evans.

Court action resulted from a break with Simmons and Evans over the organization by the emperor of a woman's auxiliary.

Klan Chapter Disbands.
Lafayette, La., April 4.—The Lafayette Ku Klux Klan has disbanded and will give up its charter. It was officially announced in a published statement appearing in a local newspaper today, signed by the secretary of the organization and other members.

The decision to disband was reached at a meeting of members today following numerous conferences between the leaders and prominent men opposed to the organization.

Disband relations between the Klan and anti-klan elements threatened the social and commercial life of the city, and evidences of its feeling are said to have brought leading men together in an effort to restore harmony.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN.
Mrs. Susan Hoffman, 65 years old, 719 West 12th place, died in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday from injuries received when she fell downstairs several days ago.

SZUKALSKI WILL PUBLISH BOOK OF DRAWINGS, POEMS

Stanislaus Szukalski, Polish sculptor, will celebrate the first anniversary of his marriage to Helen Walker daughter of Dr. Samuel J. Walker, well known Chicago physician, with the publication of his first book of drawings and poems.

Chicago society and literary received word yesterday that a deluxe volume, in limited edition, of Szukalski's work will be available on May 31. It was just a year from this date that the radical sculptor married the artist daughter of one of Chicago's oldest families.

Following a honeymoon in Canada the couple moved to the bridegroom's studio, 428 Lafayette street, New York, where they both forsook society for art. Two months ago they returned to Chicago and established themselves in a studio at 15 East Ohio street.

BOOZE SELLERS FACING STATE AND U. S. PROSECUTION

Closer cooperation between national and state prohibition law enforcers is to be sought through a plan announced yesterday by Chief Federal Field Agent John E. Earley, whereby violators arrested under the state law will be served immediately with federal warrants.

Mr. Earley's plan will not mean that the federal government will attempt to take over state cases, it is said, but will provide double prosecution from the two sources. According to recent Washington rulings, prohibition offenders may be prosecuted under both state and national laws for the same offense without conflicting with the fifth constitutional amendment, which provides against double penalty for one crime, on the ground that the violator technically commits two crimes—one against the state and one against the national government.

MAN DIES AT WORK.

RUSSIA OPENS BRANDY BARS; HIC! HIC! FOR REDS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] MOSCOW, April 4.—[Tribune Radio.]—Russia smashed its lips today promptly when 16,000 shops offered the thirsty millions old time liquors up to 50 per cent alcohol. Cherry brandy came back with a grand slam and apricot brandy, curacao and local benedictine sold for a couple of dollars in bottles bearing pre-war labels. Previously the alcoholic content was limited to 13 per cent.

Judge Motes Out Quick Justice to Erring Husbands

Judge Peter H. Schwab dealt quick justice in the Maxwell street court yesterday when four married women preferred complaints of cruelty or continuous intoxication against their husbands. Anton Svava, 2037 West 19th street, was fined $100 and costs; Joseph Verka, 1613 Alport avenue, and Julius Salowski, 1125 West 27th place, were put on probation for six months, and Joseph Seratello, 2236 Flourney street, was told to stay away from his wife for two weeks.

JURY DECIDES IN $100,000 SUIT OF MILNER'S 'WIVES'

Goes Home After Eight Hours' Deliberation.

In the love of Edwin Milner, erst while $116 a week and present $9,000 a year vice president of Capper & Capper company loop haberdashers, worth $100,000? And is it a right Capper Milner, his second wife, a "love thief" and a "home wrecker"?

These perplexing questions are believed to have been decided by a jury in Judge Hugo Pam's court which took the case at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning the jury left the county building, apparently having reached a verdict.

The case in the heart balm suit brought by Mrs. Helen Milner, the eldier's divorced wife, against her successor, a sister of the Capper brothers and secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Last minute testimony of former employees of the Capper & Capper Michigan avenue store, indicating that Milner and the then Miss Capper had indulged in "spoony" when both were supposed to be "working on the books," prior to Milner's divorce in October, 1920, proved a bombshell to the defense. The effect was lessened, however, when, under cross-examination by Attorney H. E. Sobie, one of the two witnesses admitted that she had been discharged from the store and the other had "left hurriedly."

Charges of blackmail were bandied back and forth during the four days' trial of the suit. The first Mrs. Milner declared that before she divorced Milner in 1920 he had been offered the alternative by Miss Capper of giving up his position or his wife.

Mrs. Milner, it was charged, had demanded $10,000 as the price of silence from her ex-husband's second wife.

FIGHT CLAIM OF GEORGE J. GOULD'S STEPCHILDREN

Heirs Oppose Their Share in Estate.

New York, April 4.—Three children of the present Mrs. George J. Gould are not the issue of George J. Gould "within the meaning" of the will of Jay Gould and have no interest in his estate, four heirs of Jay Gould declared in an answer filed today to the supplemental amended complaint of the estate trustees in the Gould accounting proceedings now pending.

The answer was filed by Malcolm Sumner, guardian ad litem to Jay Gould Jr., George J. Gould III, Manhattan Carter Gould, and Stuart Walworth, juvenile heirs of Jay Gould.

Not Children of George J. Gould.
It declares that the children of Mrs. George J. Gould, formerly Guinivere Sinclair, "George Sinclair Gould, Jane Sinclair Gould, and Guinivere Gould are children of one Guinivere Sinclair, and that all of them were born during the married life of George J. Gould and Edith Kingdon Gould, and also prior to the marriage of George J. Gould to the said Guinivere Sinclair."

The answer also alleged that the "said children" have no right or interest in the Jay Gould estate, and that the children are not the issue of George J. Gould within the meaning of that word used in the will of Jay Gould, deceased.

Dukes Power Given in Will.
It also was denied that "the power of testamentary appointment" given George J. Gould in the will over the estate held for his benefit empowered him upon his death to bequeath that share "or any part of it to any one or more of the children in question."

The accounting proceeding was inaugurated in 1916 by George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, and Helen Gould Shepard, as trustees, to obtain approval of their stewardship and of accounts connected therewith.

DILATORY MOVES JUMBLE QUIZ IN CRONKHITE CASE

Government Record One of Indecision.

BY DONALD EWING.

Available department of justice records on the Rosenbluth-Cronkhite case place the office of Attorney General Daugherty in the seemingly ambiguous position of maintaining control of and pushing an investigation with one hand and announcing repeatedly with the other that the department had no jurisdiction in the case.

As explained in chapter IV, Mr. Daugherty on March 29, 1921, eight days after Sgt. Rohna Potier had confessed that he murdered Maj. Alexander P. Cronkhite at Camp Lewis, Wash., at the instigation of Capt. Rosenbluth, declared that only the state of Washington held jurisdiction and wired the United States attorney at Seattle to turn the case over to county officials. Then, on June 21, the department of justice brought Rosenbluth to Washington for a hearing before Assistant Attorney General W. C. Herron, although it had ordered the case given to Washington state officials. It was not until July 16 that it became publicly known, however, that the department did not think it had jurisdiction.

Decide to Drop Case. On that date Mr. Herron, signing himself "For the Attorney General," wrote Rosenbluth's attorneys that it had been decided to dismiss the proceedings against Rosenbluth and Potier and give the case to Washington state.

Then, on Aug. 9, Mr. Herron wrote W. H. Allen of New York, friend of Rosenbluth, who had written the department charging persecution of the captain, that "no papers in the case had been sent to Mr. Selden," although later in the letter he repeats that the department holds "it has no jurisdiction."

On Aug. 29 Mr. Daugherty, replying to a letter from Senator Calder, wrote: "I can assure you that the fact that the department decided it lacked jurisdiction in this case, that it was not desired in any way the impression should go out that Rosenbluth was guilty, leaving entirely the matter of investigating it further in the hands of state of Washington officials. I can assure you that if the attorney general of the state of Washington calls upon this department for any evidence that we might have on file, the department will be very glad to give him all the information at hand."

Thus the department, after first ordering the records turned over to County Prosecutor J. W. Selden at Tacoma, Wash., apparently now held that a request should come from the attorney general of Washington. Such a request never came.

One Official's Explanation. In a recent discussion with department of justice officials this explanation for the department's action in not sending all of its papers to Selden after relinquishing jurisdiction was given by one who has been in close touch with the case throughout:

"When Potier confessed, the case was placed in the hands of W. C. Herron to decide whether the government held jurisdiction. Herron held that because the deed to the reservation had not been given the government prior to the shooting, the government held no jurisdiction and the case should go to the county officials. Daugherty wired Selden at Seattle to turn it over to them, but when this became known around the department other assistant attorneys general differed with Herron's opinion. They held that since the government occupied the land in time of war the land had been given it and it held jurisdiction over all acts committed on that land. They looked on the deed merely as evidence of the transfer."

"So we decided to hold up the evidence we had, pending a thorough investigation of the law on the subject. Nothing was sent Selden from here, but of course we couldn't hold Rosenbluth forever, so we discharged his bail and admitted no jurisdiction."

Wanted Complete Case. "In the meantime the bureau of investigation was digging up new evidence which we never sent Selden. The opinion was growing that it was a government case and we were just waiting to get a complete case."

Early in November, Rosenbluth, having enlisted Senator Calder and others in his fight for a complete exoneration from the department, appealed to Congressman Harold Knutson of Minnesota. Knutson's secretary, David Berg, wrote Rosenbluth as follows on November 26:

"I finally succeeded in getting in touch with Mr. Burns of the department of justice. He stated that he had turned over all the papers in the case to Mr. Crim and could do nothing further in regard to it. I called Mr. Crim, who told me that he had sent the papers to Washington to the court which had jurisdiction over the case and that the matter was no longer in his hands. This doesn't get you any where, I am afraid."

William J. Burns and Rosenbluth had some correspondence previous to this. Replying to Rosenbluth's complaint that the papers had not been sent to Selden, Burns wrote on September 23, 1921:

"It is possible they are just about reaching there now. However, I am having the matter looked into and you can rest assured there will be no hiding of anything here."

This letter followed a telegram from Burns in which he said:

"Will be glad to send papers requested."

John W. H. Crim, assistant attorney general, when asked about these letters, said that his phrase "to the court" which had jurisdiction "was misinterpreted to mean the country court, whereas he referred to the federal court at Seattle. He said he had no knowledge of Mr. Burns ever being in the case."

It was at this time that Thomas P. Revell became United States attorney at Seattle, and the department of justice, knee deep in charges and counter charges from both factions in the case, sent the papers to him for a decision on jurisdiction.

Revell Gets Papers. Revell wrote a brief holding that the government held jurisdiction. He found various Washington laws to support his belief. He went to Washington and quickly convinced the department he was right.

With what might be considered a negative sign of relief the department turned all the papers over to Revell and told him to take the case before a grand jury and let the jury decide what should be done. The numerous requests from senators and influential persons that an investigation be held and the charges that Rosenbluth was being persecuted in the investigations made were thus answered, and in December, 1921, the department of justice again was fully directing the case—but it was being done secretly. Just as it continued to act after announcing that it was without jurisdiction, now it continued to act without announcing that it was resuming jurisdiction.

Before turning to the developments on the Pacific coast which followed this action, it is advisable to consider what Gen. Cronkhite, the major's father, was doing at this time.

General Finds Obstacles. As the case progressed, Gen. Cronkhite found obstacles after obstacle in his path and his friends now charged that they were placed there deliberately to prevent full prosecution of Potier and Rosenbluth.

On July 2, 1919, while he was in the midst of his inspection of war department records and making repeated queries for papers which apparently did not exist, Gen. Cronkhite was ordered to San Francisco apparently preliminary to transfer to the Philippines. His protest brought cancellation of the order and he became commander of the Third Army Corps area. On April 28, 1921, shortly after Potier's confession, he received orders to go to Panama.

On June 14 the general personally protested to Secretary Weeks against being ordered out of the country without being consulted. He maintained that his service in France, where his division, the 80th, was the only one to go into the Meuse-Argonne action three times, and his long army career entitled him to consideration as to his future station. Secretary Weeks told him he was right and that he would look into the matter. Gen. Pershing was called in by Weeks and two hours later Pershing wrote Cronkhite that he and the secretary had decided there could be no change in the order.

Pershing Deplores Request. Again Gen. Cronkhite called on Weeks and on July 1 he was notified that he would be given a delay until Oct. 1. On July 28 Cronkhite wrote Pershing requesting cancellation of the Panama orders, pleading the urgency of his son's case, but this request was disappointed.

Shortly before this, Cronkhite wrote Secretary Weeks charging the department of justice with negligence in investigating his son's death. He said that Herbert Hoover, Catherine Davis, Senator Calder and others stopped the department of justice investigation and that the attorney general never refused to see him. These persons deny that they did anything except look impartial action by the department.

This letter brought a sharp reply from the war department reprimanding Cronkhite for attacking a government department. This letter, dated July 23, said the war department was informed by the department of justice that the case had been given to the state officials and that Attorney General Daugherty was of the opinion that the evidence was so slight that there would be no prosecution.

Refused Court Inquiry. The correspondence between Cronkhite and the secretary of war continued into the fall. In October Cronkhite demanded a court of inquiry into the statements in the July 23 letter which he declared were "imputations he could not but resent." This was the reprimand over his attack on Daugherty. This request was refused, and the general informed that no further delay in the Panama orders would be countenanced.

On Nov. 26 Cronkhite wrote President Harding. After reviewing the case he said that the department of justice had twice halted the investigation; that the statements made by Rosenbluth and Potier the night of Maj. Cronkhite's death were missing; that there was no record of the clothing being inspected by the board of inquiry; that this clothing since had been destroyed without official inspection for powder burns, and that some of the papers available were improperly drawn up. Investigation has proved these charges true.

On Dec. 1 President Harding wrote Secretary Weeks as follows:

"I have made inquiry into the Cronkhite case. I wish you would detail Gen. Cronkhite for a period of ninety days to gather evidence in this case to submit to the civil authorities in the state of Washington."

"I quite agree with the department of justice that the case is not one for that department. I would not wish to see the matter completely dropped. If Gen. Cronkhite, with his particular interest in the case, can secure evidence to bring about an indictment for trial, I think the service would be well worth while. At any rate, I would like him detailed for such pursuit of evidence."

Thus, while department of justice records already cited show that the department had maintained activity in the case throughout the summer and in November wrote Revell to brief the case preparatory to taking it up again officially, on Dec. 1 the President apparently was informed that the department was taking no part in it. Gen. Cronkhite. Early in December he conferred with department of justice officials and agents who had been at work. A certain document was presented to an assistant attorney general, and, after reading it, he exclaimed:

"If that document is true there is no question that Maj. Cronkhite was deliberately murdered in a lonely spot in the woods and murdered."

And then came Revell's report that he believed the government held jurisdiction. And when these two documents were placed side by side the decision of the department of justice was that the matter should go into the hands of a United States attorney. Revell was ordered to place it before a federal grand jury in Seattle.

But before Revell could complete his plans for a grand jury probe the county of Pierce, Wash., acted. J. W. Selden, the prosecuting attorney, issued a 25,000 word statement in which he declared that "as for Capt. Rosenbluth, he should be and is, so far as we are able to do it, entirely exonerated from any connection whatever with the death of Maj. Cronkhite."

Mr. Selden's story of why he issued this statement and the details of it will be presented tomorrow.

FROM its experience of nearly a score of years this bank has drawn some interesting conclusions.

It has found in the investment field that as the rate of interest increases, the risk is usually increased proportionately.

That is why speculative securities promise such rosy profits. Even an extra 1% interest yield may mark the barrier between risk and safety.

This bank has confined its loaning to cases where the margin of safety was so large that the borrower was entitled to a rate of 6%.

MASS TROOPS ON RUHR BORDER TO BALK GERMANS

French Fear Activity of Nationalists.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

ESSEN, April 4.—The timely strengthening of garrisons near the eastern boundary of the occupied Ruhr, with extension of the zone of occupation around Essen, may avert serious clashes between troops and armed nationalists. The center of the city of Dortmund, only five miles from unoccupied Germany, has been heavily occupied. This city has always been a hotbed of nationalism. About two weeks ago the French who were astride the lines of communication on the outskirts of the city moved a battalion into the business district. Since then the garrison has been trebled.

An observation balloon has been brought to Dortmund and two trained observers with powerful glasses are keeping a sharp lookout during the daytime. A number of small railway stations in the vicinity of Dortmund have been occupied and the garrison at Essen has been doubled.

Increase Frontier Posts.
The posts along the frontier have been increased in size, having auxiliary arms which will enable them to sustain an attack by guerrilla forces. A St. Bartholomew's day for the French in the occupied territory was prophesied by a speaker when the "Ries Helms," a secret organization of nationalists, met at Lohndenscheld, a town a few miles east of the end of the British bridgehead.

Dynamiters blew up the railway running from Kuppeldorf to Kettwils today. Workmen tore up the rails from the engine stalls of the Rhine Metal works, near Duesseldorf, when the French sought eleven completed locomotives, said to have been built for the Jugoslav government. About 1,000 employees of the locomotive works went on strike.

Ultimatum to Workers Expires.

DUESSELDORF, April 4.—The railway workers are not responding to the French decree to go back to their tasks or face expulsion. The ultimatum of Gen. Degoutte expired today, so whole-scale deportations are expected to begin in a few days.

The French seized large railroad shops in Crefeld, where they found that the integral parts of many machines had been removed. The shopmen struck.

No measures have been taken by the French to collect from mine owners the German coal tax which has been due since March 1. The German press asserts that the owners will be given another fifteen days' grace. French troops occupied the state mine at Waltrop and the Canal Harbor and Prosper mines today.

BERLIN, April 4.—Thirty-five Germans have been killed and 5,500 deported since the French occupied the Ruhr.

Lady Mary Thynne, daughter of the marquis and marchioness of Bath. Lady Mary is a chum of Princess Mary of England and will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon and the duke of York.

Ruhr. Oberpresident Gronofsky of Westphalia told Mr. Testa, a papal delegate investigating Ruhr conditions. Mr. Testa asserted that Pope Pius XI wishes a complete investigation of the situation in the Ruhr. He is accompanied on his tour by Dr. Broening of St. Louis, a German-American bishop.

Cardinal Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, will leave shortly for America. German nationalist newspapers assert the purpose of his trip is to counteract Cardinal Mercier's propaganda.

The German People's party—the most radical of the right wing—laid down the gauge to Chancellor Cuno last night, when Dr. Hergst, their party chief, in a speech at Augsburg, asserted they would support the chancellor only so long as he did not attempt to negotiate with the French. He asked the chancellor to declare the Versailles treaty a scrap of paper since the French had violated it.

Herr Cuno thus is between two fires, with the nationalists demanding that he remain firm in his resistance to the French and the Socialists urging immediate negotiations with Paris.

HITLER READY FOR WAR ON REDS IN ALL GERMANY

[Copyright: 1923: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MUNICH, April 4.—Fearing a Berlin coup by the Hitler guards can only be explained by a bad conscience, Herr Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Gray Shirts (similar to the Italian Black Shirts), told The Tribune today. He ridiculed any suggestion that he was planning a march on Berlin.

"Kindermarchen (fairytale)," he replied when asked what the foundation was for the apprehension towards him in the north of Germany. He says he does not contemplate a coup or any aggressive action, but he will stand 100 per cent German, with a strong organization behind him, ready to strike for the vital interests of the country which ever it is threatened by internal forces or from the outside.

Only Against Reds.

Herr Hitler said that his fight was simply one against bolshevism—bolshevism of German thought. He asserted that those who are interested in nationalistic thought should be excluded from Germany. He sees bolshevism as a canker of pure European politics, and he wants to knife it without an anesthetic.

This is Herr Hitler's policy and his inspiration, and he is relentless against bolshevism in whatever form or under whatever name it may operate. How far he will succeed or how far he must go depends entirely on how far bolshevism extends into German national life.

A Tireless Worker.

Herr Hitler surely is one of the most interesting persons that troubled post-war Germany has produced. He is working tirelessly here in this otherwise peaceful locality for his ambition.

ONTARIO CHIEF PUSHES SEAWAY OCEAN-CHICAGO

[Copyright: 1923: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Montreal, Que., April 4.—[Special.]—Sir Adam Beck, forecasting a power famine, will press for St. Lawrence development, if his associate members on the Ontario hydro-electric commission will concur with him in his proposed demand on the provincial government that they authorize the commission to proceed with this big eastern Ontario project. He said this in an address at Hamilton. The project would enable ocean vessels to ascend the great lakes to Chicago.

Sir Adam referred to the augmentation that will result to Ontario's power resources through the deepening of the St. Lawrence and the power developments to be made there. A dam to be built at Morrisburg, he said, will control the levels of Lake Ontario and add 350,000 horse power to Ontario's supply. This, he said, would save 4,000,000 tons of coal in Ontario annually. Ontario and the United States will cooperate in the building of this dam. The American end may be built by private parties. "But we do not care," said Sir Adam. "The thing is to get the dam built. We don't care what they have to pay for power over there, but for us, we will then have a million horsepower in Ontario."

PRESSMEN OPEN TRADE SCHOOL TO COACH MEMBERS

The Chicago Printing Pressmen's union has established a free trade school to give its members opportunity of acquiring a thorough technical knowledge of the various new types of printing presses which have lately been introduced in the printing industry.

William F. Moran, president of the union, announced last night.

"When Pressmen's union No. 3 was organized the printing industry was primitive and simple," said Moran. "Now it is involved and complicated. With introduction of the new makes of printing presses our members were placed under a handicap. To overcome this obstacle the union installed these new types of presses in a free school for its members at 543 South Dearborn street. Day and night courses are provided."

What a man owes to himself

Great as is this city and overwhelmingly apparent as are the evidences of the prosperity of its citizens, Chicago is singularly lacking in number of worth-while restaurants.

There is no doubt whatever that many people do not discriminate in such matters as their best interests indicate they should.

And yet the reason that there are few first-class restaurants in Chicago cannot be insufficiency of demand. The notably great patronage of Henrici's at breakfast, luncheon, dinner and late supper hours, and even in-between-times, is evidence that quality in food, service and surroundings is as great a magnet in Chicago as anywhere else.

It may well be that the answer is to be found in the extreme rapidity of Chicago's growth and consequent quick shifting of the characteristics of locations.

But whatever the reason may be the situation exists and every person, especially he who hopes to maintain high efficiency in business life, owes to himself the benefits of well considered thought as to the restaurant to be favored by his patronage.

Why not Henrici's today?

THE TRIBUNE

THE PURP.

THE PEOPLE

200 or 300 words. Give full name and address. Address of the people.

THE "RED FOX" IS FOUL.
Chicago, April 3.—Periodically, in the columns of the Chicago Tribune, I read editorials condemning Wisconsin government or legislature. Why these editorials?

THE COMING SOCIAL REVOLUTION.
Duluth, Minn., April 3.—The declaration of the British Labor party in favor of socialism was certainly a body blow. You have my sincere sympathy. I know how you feel. Had it been a body of workmen of any other nationality, the blow would not have been so severe. But think of it! Members of the great English-British race. However, there is no satisfaction—the worst is yet to come. I am not of English extraction, but I lift my hat to the organized workmen of England. They have made socialism respectable to the world over, and at one bound have taken the lead in the movement for the industrial revolution of the world. God bless them! Success to them!

FOX-POPULAR SCIENCE.
Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—Mr. H. H. Hall, who writes the "Voice of the People," under date of the 18th instant, asks about the moon's influence upon the temperature of the earth. The weather records show that the earth's temperature was lowered between March 14 and 21. This was caused by the moon passing between the earth and a group of stars, Venus, Mercury, Uranus, and Mars. As the moon advanced eastward in its orbit, its force crowded the earth and the group apart, or forced the earth to move farther from the group of stars, and by so doing it forced the earth a little farther from the warm sun which was in the direction of the group of planets. This lowered the earth's temperature and caused cold spells of winter weather that week.

The Question.
Why doesn't every man in Chicago wear O-G shoes?

The Answers.
Noah Goodhue, corner Wilson Avenue and Roosevelt Road, Leather Salesman—They would if they knew as much about shoe values as I do. But that only comes by experience. I have been buying O-G's since those price and style pioneers first started in business, and the way their policy has brought down the average of men's shoe prices and improved the average of men's shoe quality sure is a wonder.

Barney Cleveland, Hinsdale, Illinois, Farmer—They will, and in a short time at that, if that man John O'Connor can get around fast enough to get them all. I've been wearing O-G's ever since 1913. Am now on my third pair. The only complaint I ever had was that with an aristocratic high instep like mine the laces on the second pair were too short. But now, with my well new 1923 O-G Oxfords and my O-G Mauve Spats, I am very happy. I thank you.

"EVERY BUYER OF O-G MEN'S SHOES IS A PARTNER IN THE HOUSE TO THE EXTENT OF HIS PURCHASES. HE GETS HIS ANNUAL DIVIDENDS IN O-G'S PROFIT DISTRIBUTION THROUGH THE LOW PRICES HE PAYS FOR THE HIGH QUALITY HE GETS. THERE IS NOTHING TO MATCH O-G VALUES IN AMERICAN MEN'S SHOE HISTORY."

SHOESDAY, APRIL 5, 1923 : MEN'S SHOE BULLETIN :

It is an interesting fact that O-G Men's Shoes are bought more than they are sold.

This is due to the powerful appeal that high quality and low price makes to every man when he "shops" for himself.

When you see an O-G man's shoe it looks so rich in solid merit, as well as so distinguished and snappy in design, that instinctively you want to touch it and examine it. And when you handle an O-G Man's shoe you feel an immediate impulse to put it on your foot. (Then "it's all over.")

You have bought something you wanted, and which you know will be a safe and lasting investment. Nobody has "sold" you anything. (It was not necessary.)

O-G Men's shoes sell themselves. That is why we have achieved in 20 short and vigorously happy years the largest volume of strictly high grade men's shoe business in the West—perhaps in the U. S. (It's well on the road to that, at least.)

And that O-G volume, already in the millions, makes possible the lowest profit margin per pair in the history of men's shoe retailing in America. Will you let us prove it—perhaps TODAY?

ORDERED TO WOO BRIDE HE WOULD REGAIN BY WRIT

Post-nuptial courtship rather than legal writs must restore Helen Peterson Dudley, 18 year old bride of a week, to her husband, John H. Dudley, Judge Joseph Sabath declared yesterday when he overruled the Dudley's petition for a writ of habeas corpus to compel the girl's parents to release the young wife.

Dudley, a plumber, living at 4455 Berkeley avenue, charged that by subterfuge, Mr. and Mrs. David Peterson, 1718 South Larkin street, had enticed their daughter to leave her honeymoon and return to their home, where she was held incommunicado.

Mistake, Bride Asserts.
"I don't love John as a wife should," declared the girl bride yesterday. "It's just a sort of affection, my liking for him. He threatened me. He told me God made us for each other and that God would punish me if I did not marry him. I can go back to him if I want to, but I don't and I never should have married him."

The couple eloped to Crown Point on March 27, and within a week, on the eve of their departure to Florida for a honeymoon, Dudley charges that his bride had been "stolen." "Their marriage was not the will of God," declared the girl's mother. "Helen will get rid of him and go away as a runaway."

Urges New Courtship.
"At the end of a month some sort of an agreement may be affected between these children," said Judge Sabath as he continued the case for thirty days.

"In the meantime, Helen will return to her parents' home, where John may call on her, if she will receive him. He may take her to the theater, send her candy and flowers, and begin his courtship all over again, and perhaps then that southern honeymoon may materialize anyway."

WHICH BODY IS FARRELL'S? TWO ARE IDENTIFIED

Is Michael J. Farrell, former street car conductor, buried at Mount Olivet or is he not? This is a question that is puzzling the police.

Farrell disappeared from Mercy hospital last November. A body taken from the lake on March 24 was identified as his by Mrs. Margaret Morrissey of 3910 Indiana avenue, his former landlady. She claimed the body and paid the expenses of burial.

But apparently she was wrong. Another body was taken from the lake at 23d street yesterday and was identified by Michael Callinan, secretary to Capt. J. B. Enright of the Cottage Grove station, as that of Farrell. If he's right, who was the other man?

We invite you to hear the marvelous tone of this beautiful
WESTMINSTER MODEL

The WESTMINSTER will add distinction to any setting with a musical instrument. It has that rare value which only a Cheney can have. The richness and sweetness of Cheney tone is unrivaled—it is duplicated by no other phonograph. The whole acoustic system of The Cheney is different—and the result is remarkably different.

An unusually original finish gives this beautiful new Cheney model a rich, deep, two-tone oak effect which is further enhanced by the use of walnut applique.

The WESTMINSTER at $150 presents a remarkable opportunity for every lover of good music and good furniture. Its tone will improve constantly with age, for like an old violin—"The Longer You Play It, the

DOYLE RETURNS, DEEPTHER THAN EVER IN PSYCHIC MAZE

Most Vital Thing in World,
Will Tell U. S.

know, Christ said: 'I have more things to say to you, but the time is not yet.' It seems to me that this is the time. If a message was to come from God this is the time for it, when society is falling to pieces."

Sir Arthur was asked about the proposed tests by the Scientific American.

"I suggested to Mr. Bird that he come to me and place himself in my hands," he said. "He has seen all the famous mediums of England, including Sloane and Powell, whom I consider the finest medium in the world. He has a photograph taken with the aid of Hope, the Cretan carpenter. He has seen everything I have seen, and has a superficial knowledge of the phenomena, but it is not to be expected that he obtain in a few weeks the religious interpretation of these phenomena which it has taken me more than thirty years to acquire."

Thinks Houdini Antagonistic.
There are plenty of good mediums in this country who could be used in the tests, said Sir Arthur, and most of the good mediums in London are Americans. The most famous in this country is Miss Ada Besant, of Toledo, O. But Sir Arthur was rather skeptical as to the success of the investigation to be made here because he said he feared that some of the judges appointed, particularly Houdini, would be so antagonistic that good results could not be obtained.

New Pictures of Ecstasies.
Sir Arthur said that he had several new pictures of ecstasies and pictures showing spirit faces which he would show at his lectures. Among them are photographs which he received from Americans toward the end of his last visit here and which he did not have time to check up. He has done so as far as possible with his American pictures by means of affidavits and careful investigation and believes they are genuine.

J. Malcolm Bird is a very different type of man from the heavy set, deliberate Sir Arthur. Bird is slight and nervous—a man who went to England with an open mind willing to accept evidence of phenomena but with a keen instinct for fraud. That he came back convinced of the truth of these phenomena was a source of gratification to Sir Arthur.

"I went merely to see if these things actually occurred," said Mr. Bird. "I didn't try to make a scientific investigation but merely to observe the phenomena and the conditions under which they were produced."

Doyle's Companion Convinced.
"I did not actually see ecstasies, which issues from the body of the medium and which it has been thought may be the means by which objects are moved, but I did see the psychic lights which are believed to be accounted for by luminous ecstasies. I saw physical objects moved, under conditions which precluded their being moved by the medium or the spectators."

SON MASSAGED HIS LEG.

New York, April 4.—Sir A. Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, gave three hours tonight to newspaper men at his hotel. He told how he recently had hurt the ligaments of his right leg, from the shin to the thigh, and that his son Kingsley, who died in the war, had massaged the limb with beneficial results.

"It pained me a great deal," he said, "and one night, soon after I had suffered the injury, I was sitting in my room with Evan Powell, an unusual and powerful medium."

"Powell proceeded to get in touch with the spirit world and soon afterwards my son Kingsley, who lost his life in the war, appeared to me, saying:

"It will be all right, daddy. I'll get you fixed up all right."

A few minutes later Kingsley began massaging my leg where the ligaments had been sprained. After a few moments of this his voice was heard telling me he would return later, in the séance. He did, and again massaged my leg. Within ten days following this the ligaments had entirely mended, when the minimum for an injury of such severity would have been three weeks."

Asked if he thought the spirits eventually would aid in the suppression and detection of crime, he replied he did not think they would do so directly "because crime is too earthly and spirits are not of this world."

ARREST 24 FOR ALLEGED FRAUD IN TEXAS OIL

Fort Worth, Tex., April 4.—Two more defendants in the federal probe of alleged fraudulent oil projects surrendered this afternoon and were released on $20,000 bond each. They were Warren H. Hollister and George W. Richardson. They are connected with the Pilgrim Oil company.

Their arrests bring the total to twenty-four. Bonds furnished to date amount to more than $230,000.

Among those arrested were L. G. Reynolds of the Hog Creek company and Porter Oakes of the Rivers Oil company. Dr. Cook, former arctic explorer, was arrested yesterday.

A Wise Mother's Prescription For Preserving Family Health

JOHNNY is taking a prescription. His careful mother—the family Health Doctor—ordered it. The greatest health authorities would applaud her judgment. Her daily ounce of prevention works wonders in combating disease.

But—you say—he is simply washing his face! No, he is doing MUCH MORE. He is purifying his face with Lifebuoy. A great health prescription.

Removing surface dirt by ordinary methods is a start in the right direction. But the penetrating, protecting effects of Lifebuoy are needed to really clean.

Dirt is Dangerous

Health is so priceless—and so easily lost! Every day your children touch filthy objects, meet diseased persons, cover themselves with germ-laden dirt.

Almost every known disease can be traced to dirt. Famous Health Foundations plead with you to safeguard husband and children against this dreaded menace.

The Health Habit

Give them Lifebuoy—the health soap. Its rich, creamy lather carries a wonderful health element deep down into dirt-clogged pores. The skin is completely cleaned, purified and deodorized—delightfully stimulated.

Be sure to put a cake at every place where there is running water. How the men folks will thank you! Lifebuoy, you know, is preferred by men everywhere.

You can always recognize the true health soap by COLOR and ODOR. Pure, unbleached palm-fruit oil is red. So Lifebuoy is RED. The unique health element gives Lifebuoy its pungent, healthful odor. The odor vanishes instantly—the protection remains.

U. S. AT SANTIAGO
URGES MOVE FOR DISARM PARLEY

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 4.—(By Associated Press.)—Owing to the fact that six different nations have proposed ready regarding pan-American cooperation in agricultural problems,
the agricultural committee of the Pan-American conference has postponed its first business meeting until Friday.
Meanwhile the representatives of the nations advancing the various propositions—Argentina, Chile, Cuba, Santo Domingo, the United States, and Urguay—will meet in an effort to formulate a common report.

Recommendations that archeological ruins be declared the property of the state and that such treasures, together with historical documents not now in the hands of public or cultural institutions, be appropriated, were presented for consideration to the educational committee today by Alcibades Roldas of Chile. He urges that all American governments establish museums and libraries for the preservation of these treasures, and impose penalties upon discoverers of archeological objects of value who fail to inform governmental authorities of the fact.

Enlargement of the scope of the Pan-American union to permit the performance of any function conferred on it by the governing board or by subsequent Pan-American conferences is proposed in a convention which Dr. L.

S. Rowe of the United States delegation submits today to the political committee of the present congress.

The union already has authority over commercial and educational problems, but the fact that it is not an armament leads to the suggestion that its organization be amended to give it supervision over such topics.

Recommendation that action on two points of the agenda now under consideration—namely, a uniform custom procedure and regulation of radio communication—should await the action of the forthcoming world conference on the same subjects as contained in reports prepared by the Brazilian and Chilean delegations respectively. The former group calls attention to the fact that a conference is to be held at Geneva next October.

CHARGE VICE IN HOUSE OF DAVID
HIDES IN PIETY

Lansing, Mich., April 4.—(Formal charges that the Israelite House of David colony at Benton Harbor is based upon "a foundation of deceit, immorality, and fraud" were filed in the Ingham county Circuit court today by Andrew B. Dougherty, attorney general for Michigan.

Today's charges allege that the colony has set itself up as a "kingdom," with Benjamin Purnell, head of the order, as "king." The allegation also is made that the association, which filed articles of incorporation in 1908
as a religious and ecclesiastical corporation, has usurped its privilege of an organization of this character by fraud.

The attorney general alleges the colony "is not and never has been a corporation for religious and ecclesiastical purposes, but on the contrary has for its true object the enrichment of Benjamin Purnell."

The charges filed by the state today allege that the colony has usurped its franchise rights by inducing and permitting acts of an immoral and unlawful nature, under the guise of religious discipline and spiritual instruction; by inducing and permitting commission of statutory crimes and misdemeanors involving vice and immorality in and about the community commonly known as Shiloh.

PRESIDENT BUYS HOME WHERE HE WAS BORN IN 1866

Mount Gilead, O., April 4.—President Harding today purchased his birthplace—a farm in North Bloomfield township, Morrow county, where as a boy he spent his childhood days.

The deal was consummated through
"Uncle Joe" Cannon, postmaster at Marion, a lifelong friend of the President, who acted as his personal agent. The deal was delivered to Mr. Crow by Harry Erickson, who has owned the farm for a number of years.

Plans now under consideration, it is understood, call for a complete rearrangement of the premises, including a modern bungalow and golf course. Friends close to President Harding stated he contemplates spending much of his time after retirement from the White House on the "old farm" in writing and "getting back to nature."

Home Town Honors "Uncle
Joe" Cannon Tomorrow
Danville, Ill., April 4.—Final plans have been made for the celebration in honor of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, to be staged by his townspeople here Friday.
The feature will be a monster parade at 2:30. The line of march leads past the Cannon home, where there will be a short ceremony. Later the corner stone of the new $1,000,000 high school will be laid. Twenty-five hundred school children are expected to march in the parade. Business houses will be closed.

ADMITS EFFORT TO POISON WIFE
TO WED ANOTHER

Following an alleged confession that he had attempted to poison his wife
in order to marry another woman,
Michael Chemielewski of Peru, Ill.,
was lodged in the La Salle county jail at Ottawa yesterday in default of the $3,000 bonds in which he was held to the grand jury.

The arrest of Chemielewski came after Coroner's Chemist W. B. Monelly of Cook county had analyzed a glass of lemonade which he is said to have attempted to force upon his sick wife, Catherine, about a week ago, and found that it contained bichloride of mercury and lyol.

Chemielewski is the father of five children, the eldest being 12.

Albania Moslems Abolish

ceived here the Albanian Moslems' congress at Tirana, Albania, has decided to break with the Caliphate, suppress polygamy and abolish the requirement for women to wear veils in public. It was also agreed by the congress that prayers might be said while standing.

WEEKS TO BACK
FRIES IN CLASH
WITH PACIFISTS

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(Special.)—Secretary of War Weeks is preparing to enter the controversy that has developed between Gen. Fries of the chemical warfare service and the National Council for Prevention of War and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Until Secretary Weeks answers communications from these organizations defending themselves against accusations of communism and unpatriotism, there will be no official comments from the war department.

Officially, however, there are indications that the secretary of war is going to stand by Gen. Fries.

Today these organizations were made the targets for assault by the American Defense society, through its Washington director, E. M. Whitney, who, in a letter, declares that both associations are working directly along lines laid down by soviet Russia to bring about the "armed revolution."

Badger Senate Abolishes
State Board of Education

Madison, Wis., April 4.—The Wisconsin senate today endorsed the Garey bill, abolishing the state board of education, as asked by Gov. Hale in his special message to the legislature. This action was taken without a roll call and after an attempt had been made by Socialist members to get the measure referred to the joint finance committee.

record in the labor struggle and adjustments during the last twelve years had an important bearing on the case. Judge White's instructions to the jury were declared fair by both sides. He began the reading of instructions at 9 o'clock and the case was given to the jury forty-two minutes later. The court cautioned the jurors against prejudice and impressed upon them the weighty issues involved.

One Charge, He Says. The court briefly outlined the arguments of state and defense and instructed the jury in part as follows: "The sole charge against the respondent is that on or about the twentieth day of August, 1932, in the county of Berrien, he did voluntarily assemble with a certain society called the communist party of America, formed to teach and advocate doctrines of criminal syndicalism. You are instructed that the prosecution must establish by the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt (first) that there was an assembly of the communist party at the time and place alleged. (Second) that the communist party is a society formed to teach and advocate the doctrines of criminal syndicalism. (Third) that the respondent, William Z. Foster, voluntarily participated in such assembly."

"It is not disputed that the meeting or convention near Bridgman in Berrien county was a meeting of the communist party of America. Also, it is not disputed that the respondent was present during some part of that meeting, which leaves for your consideration these two questions: (1) Was the communist party of America, at the time the respondent assembled with that organization, a society formed to teach and advocate criminal syndicalism? (2) Did William Z. Foster assemble with the communist party voluntarily, that is to say with the conscious design and purpose to further and promote the teaching and advocacy by the communist party of the doctrines of criminal syndicalism?"

Explains State Laws. Under the constitution and laws of Michigan, he said, the communist party and Foster had the right to teach and advocate in this state "the theories or doctrines of the class struggle, mass action, the dictatorship of the proletariat, the soviet system of government, the abolition of the capitalist system, industrial unionism, internationalism, affiliation of the American trade union movement with the Red internationalism of labor unions, support of the soviet government of Russia, independent working class action, the communist social revolution, and other industrial, economic, and political changes mentioned in the documents of the communist party in evidence in this case," and that Foster and others had a right to meet in Michigan for the purpose of discussing these matters and to formulate plans for bringing about these changes, provided there was not coupled with the teaching any advocacy of achieving the consummation desired by crime, sabotage, violence, or other unlawful means of terrorism. "The real question is, and the question for you to decide is, was the assembly at Bridgman such an assembly as is condemned by the criminal syndicalism statute as I have heretofore defined it to you? Did the respondent, Foster voluntarily assemble with it, knowing the character of the assembly for the purpose of aiding, assisting, and abetting in carrying out the general fundamental purposes of the organization? If it was such an illegal organization or assembly and the respondent voluntarily assembled with it, as I have defined that term to you, then he should be convicted, otherwise you should return a verdict of not guilty."

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

GRANDMOTHER kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

The World's Greatest Fiction Magazine

If you doubt our right to this title, read the METROPOLITAN and be convinced. Our ideas are new. We have made standards of our own for judging fiction. We believe that the great public is with us.

In following our policies we have turned down stories and articles from some of the greatest and highest paid living authors, in one instance turning over our rights to a story by one of the foremost famous writers in the world to a competing publisher. The MS of this author was too dull. We would not insult our readers by offering it to them.

A GREAT name does not necessarily mean a great story.

A weak or dull story continues to be weak or dull although written by the most famous author in the world.

But, when a great author turns out a really great story no magazine is more eager to publish it than METROPOLITAN. At this writing METROPOLITAN holds contracts with the following famous authors for some of the most powerfully human stories we have ever read—George Barr McCutcheon, Hugh Walpole, Richard Connell, Rafael Sabatini, F. Britton Austen, Anzia Yezierska, Theodore Dreiser, Richard Le Gallienne, Charles Hanson Towne, W. L. George, Carl Clausen, Thyra Samter Winslow.

A story can be great even though written by an unknown writer. After all the greatest author was unknown at one time.

With METROPOLITAN, nothing counts but quality—neither name, nor fame, nor past performance.

That is the platform upon which METROPOLITAN selects the stories it places before its readers.

That is why METROPOLITAN is the world's greatest fiction magazine.

METROPOLITAN keeps open house for stories and features. It is not restricted by contracts—nor is it influenced by reputations. Authors must have something to say. No mere word hash will be tolerated. Fiction must sustain the interest of the reader. It must grip and thrill the reader. It must be of life as life is lived. No sham, no pretense, no subterfuge, no dummy heroes or heroines. But stories that allow the characters to live out their own lives—as real flesh and blood characters must. And our features must be real features—timely, interesting, and of human interest.

METROPOLITAN is publishing stories that make a heart appeal to the person of wealth and to the one who can afford but one magazine a month. Those who live and work in the open spaces, and those who work in stores, offices, factories, or mills will find stories about their kind of people—about their own problems in life—about their own interests in the affairs of men and women of the day. It's the kind of magazine you will enjoy reading cozily seated in your own home. It's the type of magazine you will lay on the library table so that every member of your family can enjoy it.

METROPOLITAN pledges to its readers that nothing deadly dull will ever slip into its pages. We will continue to publish only such features and stories that throb with those live characteristics which make a magazine a real literary feast of good things to read.

Is Filial Duty Stronger Than the Matting Call?

Two strong men—and a woman's love—thrilling ships and thrilling hearts—lugged reefs and raging storms—all blended by the master hand of Harold Thim into one of the greatest love stories of the age—one of the greatest sea stories of all time—"When a Strong Man Really Loves" in the April issue of METROPOLITAN, the World's Greatest Fiction Magazine.

Will a Woman Sacrifice Even Her Good Name to Help the Man She Loves?

The thrilling story of a girl circus rider whose show "went broke" in a little western town. Necessity forced her upon a ranch where life itself depended upon the ability to ride. Love rode in the saddle—and the tumbler beckoned from afar. If you love life and love, horses, red-blood and the great outdoors, "The Girl With the Savant Heart," a story of the "main top" and the open spaces, by Elizabeth Irons F. LeCom will give you a rare thrill.

The Girl From His Own Home Town

By William MacHard
Rather disconcerting, after you have planned a brilliant match for your only son, to discover that unknown to you he has become engaged to the daughter of the girl you fitted over twenty years ago. "The Girl From His Own Home Town," by William MacHard, is a dandy story of young love and a grim parent that takes many of us back over the half forgotten trails we travelled long ago.

DOUGLAS' COURT FIGHT BRINGS NEW
WOES ON COUPLEBoth Held on One Charge,
He on Another.

Norval C. Douglas, human laboratory for law students, conducted a course in judicial procedure yesterday at the county building and city hall for judges, attorneys, bailiffs, police officers, and elevator men. At the end of a perfect legal tangle which baffled judges, irritated counsel, and caused a traffic jam in the corridors the multiple prisoner could have qualified for an LL. D.

For Douglas was arrested, arraigned, or wanted for everything but horse theft.

Falls to Appear in Court.

Arraigned before Judge Daniel P. Trade of Morris court, together with Mrs. Mary Cutler Robbins, charged by his wife, Mrs. Nadine Douglas, 6331 Greenwood avenue, with disorderly conduct, the advertising man was unable to appear because, explained his attorney, Morris Leonard, "he's in the building somewhere; I can't find him."

Judge Trade sent out searching parties for a gentleman, last seen in Sheriff's avenue police station garbed in a green bathrobe and dark gray trousers. The expedition was unsuccessful and Judge Trade continued the case to this morning.

A few moments later Douglas, in conventional black, arrived in Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli's courtroom, and was fined $5 and costs each on two charges of speeding.

Reeking to the main floor of the county building, Douglas and his wife were arrested on a confidence game charge and taken to the detective bureau.

Woman Accuses Couple.

Mrs. Douglas was arrested on a warrant obtained by Mrs. K. Mercola, 5115 Broadway, who charged that the woman and her husband represented themselves as connected with the New Melrose hotel and collected $25 from her for advertising space in the hotel's register.

Douglas was arrested on a warrant obtained by Sam W. Moser, 2537 Broadway, proprietor of a delicatessen store, who charges that Douglas had him cash two worthless checks.

Douglas was released on an $800 bond, but his estranged wife was taken to the woman's annex of the South Clark street station.

"If I had a little more sympathy for her," he said, "I would have taken her out. But I think some of her own medicine will do her good."

MYSTERY WOMAN
ENTERS MURDER
CASE OF MODEL

New York, April 4.—(Special.)—A new mystery woman entered the Dorothy Keenan murder investigation today. Detectives say she is married, prominent, and that mention of her name in this connection would startle Broadway. The police believe that if they can find her they will be able either to verify or destroy the alibi of two suspects.

Her identity has been established, but she is keeping out of sight. She is not suspected of any connection with the murder, but a few words from her might go far toward solving the mystery as to who chloroformed Dorothy Keenan.

Detectives returned today from New Haven, Conn., where they questioned Edward J. Moynihan, who occupied a suite at the Hotel Embassy with Albert El Guimares, one of Dorothy Keenan's admirers.

Guimares said he had breakfast in his suite on the morning Dorothy Keenan was found slain in her West 57th street apartment. Detectives say they have been unable to find any record of the check for Guimares' breakfast nor for the waiter who served it.

TWO HELD FOR "CON" GAME. George Clancy and Joseph Calloway, formerly proprietors of a soft drink parlor at 2818 Cottage Grove street, were held in grand jury in bonds of $1,000 each yesterday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

The men were taken to the police station and held for further investigation.

FIFI SAYS MATE
PAID $500,000
TO MRS. LEEDS

New York, April 4.—(Special.)—The plea that James A. Stillman had settled $500,000 on Mrs. Florence Leeds and her son was advanced by lawyers for Mrs. Ann U. Stillman yesterday as an example of lavish expenditure which would justify Mrs. Stillman's alimony demands. Counsel for Mr. Stillman said Mrs. Stillman already had received $112,000.

"If, at this late date," Mrs. Stillman's counsel countered in his brief, "plaintiff wishes to begin the practice of economy in family expenditures, we venture to suggest that he should first try the experiment with his unlawful family on whom the evidence indicates that he has during the last six years spent much more than on his lawful one."

The court reserved decision.

EXPECT COUNCIL TO O. K. ZONING
AT LAST SESSION

Chicago's tentative zoning ordinance probably will be passed at the council meeting today—the last meeting of the old council, which goes out of office with Mayor Thompson. The ordinance, on which the Chicago zoning commission and the council committee on buildings and zoning have worked for more than a year, was introduced at the last meeting of the council.

Amendments may be offered on the floor, but as most of the disputed points were brought out in committee meetings it probably will be adopted with little discussion.

Today's session is the last at which Mayor Thompson can submit vetoes of items in the annual budget, but in view of the fact that he is going out of office it is not expected that he will transmit any.

GOV. SMALL MAY BE SUBPENAED IN HERRIN QUIZ

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., April 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Len Small probably will be subpoenaed to appear before the Herrin investigating committee to give his explanation of the absence of state troops in Williamson county when the massacre occurred last June.

Subpoenas are being prepared for "several state officers and their records." This was taken to mean that the special house committee, headed by Representative McCarthy (Rep., Kan.) intends to start its investigation at the heart of the state military department in an effort to fix the blame for failure to order a troop movement when the riot fever started to mount high in Williamson county the day before the massacre.

The "several state officers" are understood to include not only Gov. Small but Adj. Gen. Black and Col. Sam N. Hunter, representative of the adjutant general, who reported developments in Williamson county direct to his superior officer from the scene of action.

GIVE HERRIN ALIBIS

Marion, Ill., April 4.—[Special.]—Philip Fontanetta, the only defendant identified in the second Herrin massacre trial as having killed one of the union Lester miners, was playing cards with several others instead of being at the massacre woods, according to evidence given in the trial here today.

Mrs. Anna Fontanetta, mother of six children of whom the defendant, aged 23, is the oldest, took the stand and told of how the defendant was awakened by a neighbor about 7 o'clock all that morning. Although the witness said that he frequently played cards in the morning, none could name on cross examination a single other day that they ever saw him play.

Other witnesses, giving alibi testimony for Bert Grace, defendant whom the state alleged stood over the body of a dying man at the Herrin massacre and refused to allow Donald Ewing, Chicago newspaper man, to give a final drink of water, said that Grace was on the public square all morning the day of the massacre.

"FIGHTING SHEIK" ASKS $50,000 OF WIFE'S MOTHER

Revocation of the judgment decree granted to Ruth Jane Brown, Cash Park beauty, last Saturday by Judge Timothy D. Hurley will be sought by Leslie W. Howe, "fighting sheik," who, in a $50,000 damage suit filed yesterday, alleged that the girl's mother, Mrs. Elsie Brown, had alienated the young bride's affections.

Howe, a musician living at 4350 West 25th street, is revealed in his suit as a wounded veteran of the 118th infantry, with honors for participation in a number of major engagements, including the Meuse campaign.

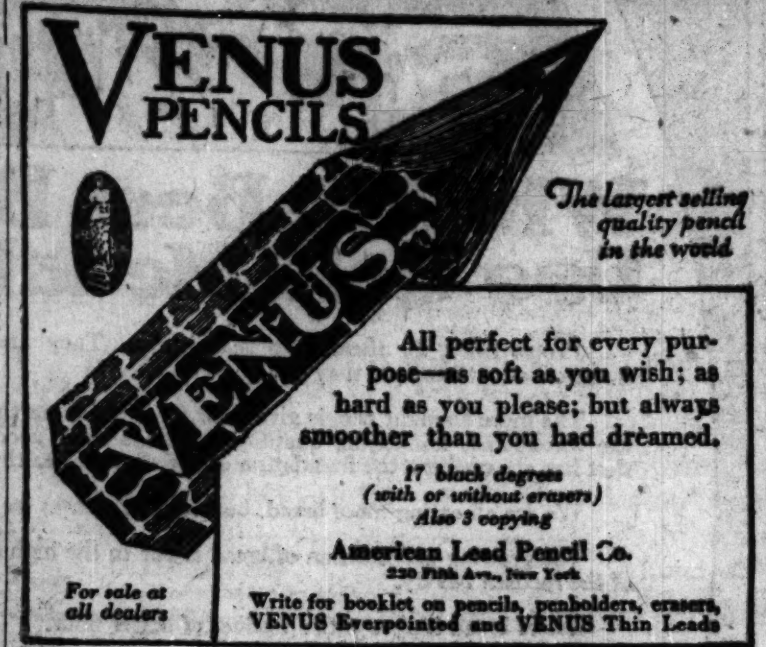

Miss Brown alleged that she had never lived with her husband, "becoming convinced of his duplicity almost immediately after the ceremony."

SEEK STRINGENT BANKING LAWS TO PROTECT PUBLIC

Financiers Urge Action
by Legislature.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

More safeguards for the citizen with money in the savings bank are to be urged upon the present legislature at Springfield.

Three changes in the law which will serve to tighten up the protection to depositors in all banks were recommended last night by a committee of the Illinois Bankers' association which met with a deputation appointed by the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association.

Andrew Russell, state auditor, was present.

Hope for Vote Next Year.

The conference report recommends the following program to be urged upon the state lawmakers for passage this session, so that it may be voted upon at popular referendum, as required by the constitution, at the general election next year:

1. Greater appropriations for the state bank examining service to enable employment of examiners adequate in numbers and in calibre.

2. Establishment of a separate bank commissioner in charge of a commission appointed for six years by the governor with consent of the senate.

3. Full powers to the banking commissioner to refuse a permit to organize a bank if he is not fully "satisfied as to the character, general fitness and responsibility of the applicants, or if it appears to him that such a business cannot be safely trusted to them or that the convenience and advantage of the community will not be promoted." At present the state auditor under the law must issue permits—he has no discretionary powers.

Would Tighten Lines.

The proposed program embodies suggestions from the banking talent recently broached in this Tribune.

One main flaw which the conference proposal says should be removed is the present provision making it mandatory upon the auditor to issue permits to organize banks whenever three persons make application. This makes it preposterously easy for anybody to set himself up as a state banker in Illinois and take charge of funds of the depositing public.

West Park to Ask State to Permit 2 Million Bond Issue

West park commissioners will ask the legislature to pass a special bill authorizing the issuance of $2,000,000 of bonds without a referendum to replenish the general fund, which was drawn upon for Columbus park improvements and the lighting system, according to announcement made yesterday by John J. Sheahan, treasurer of the board. The bill will be presented within six weeks.

HUSBAND CRUEL AFTER GAMING LOSS, WIFE SAYS

Heavy gambling losses in the Havana casino sustained by Hoyt F. Smith, wealthy broker living at the Congress hotel, incited him to attack Mrs. Dorothy Reimers Smith, according to her bill for separate maintenance filed in the Superior court yesterday.

Less than six months have elapsed since the couple embarked on an "airplane honeymoon" from Miami, Fla., to Havana, Cuba. Smith is well known as an independent La Salle street speculator. Mrs. Smith is the widow of William E. Reimers, former manager of the Palmer house, who was instantly killed in an automobile crash in October, 1921.

Immediately after the wedding, according to the bill filed by Attorney James C. O'Brien, Smith began "casting aspersions upon the character, customs and mannerisms" of his bride, and on Dec. 10, 1922, threatened to kill her. On Dec. 12, 1922, in the Seville hotel in Havana, servants intervened when the broker attempted to choke Mrs. Smith, according to the bill.

Exide BATTERIES

A little brother to the baggage car

YOU have grown accustomed, these last few years, to seeing little trucks dart around the railroad station, piled mountain-high with trunks. It was only yesterday that this work was done slowly and laboriously by straining man-power.

Nowadays, railroad stations and progressive factories of all kinds move heavy loads about their plants, quickly, economically, and humanely with small industrial trucks and tractors propelled by tireless Exide Batteries.

Exide Batteries propel not only trucks and mine locomotives, but also a majority of the submarines of the world when running submerged. Exides are widely used in radio, for airplane ignition, for power and light on farms, for sending your voice over the telephone and carrying your message over the telegraph wires. They ring the city fire alarms and provide the light you read by in the train.

The rugged battery for your car

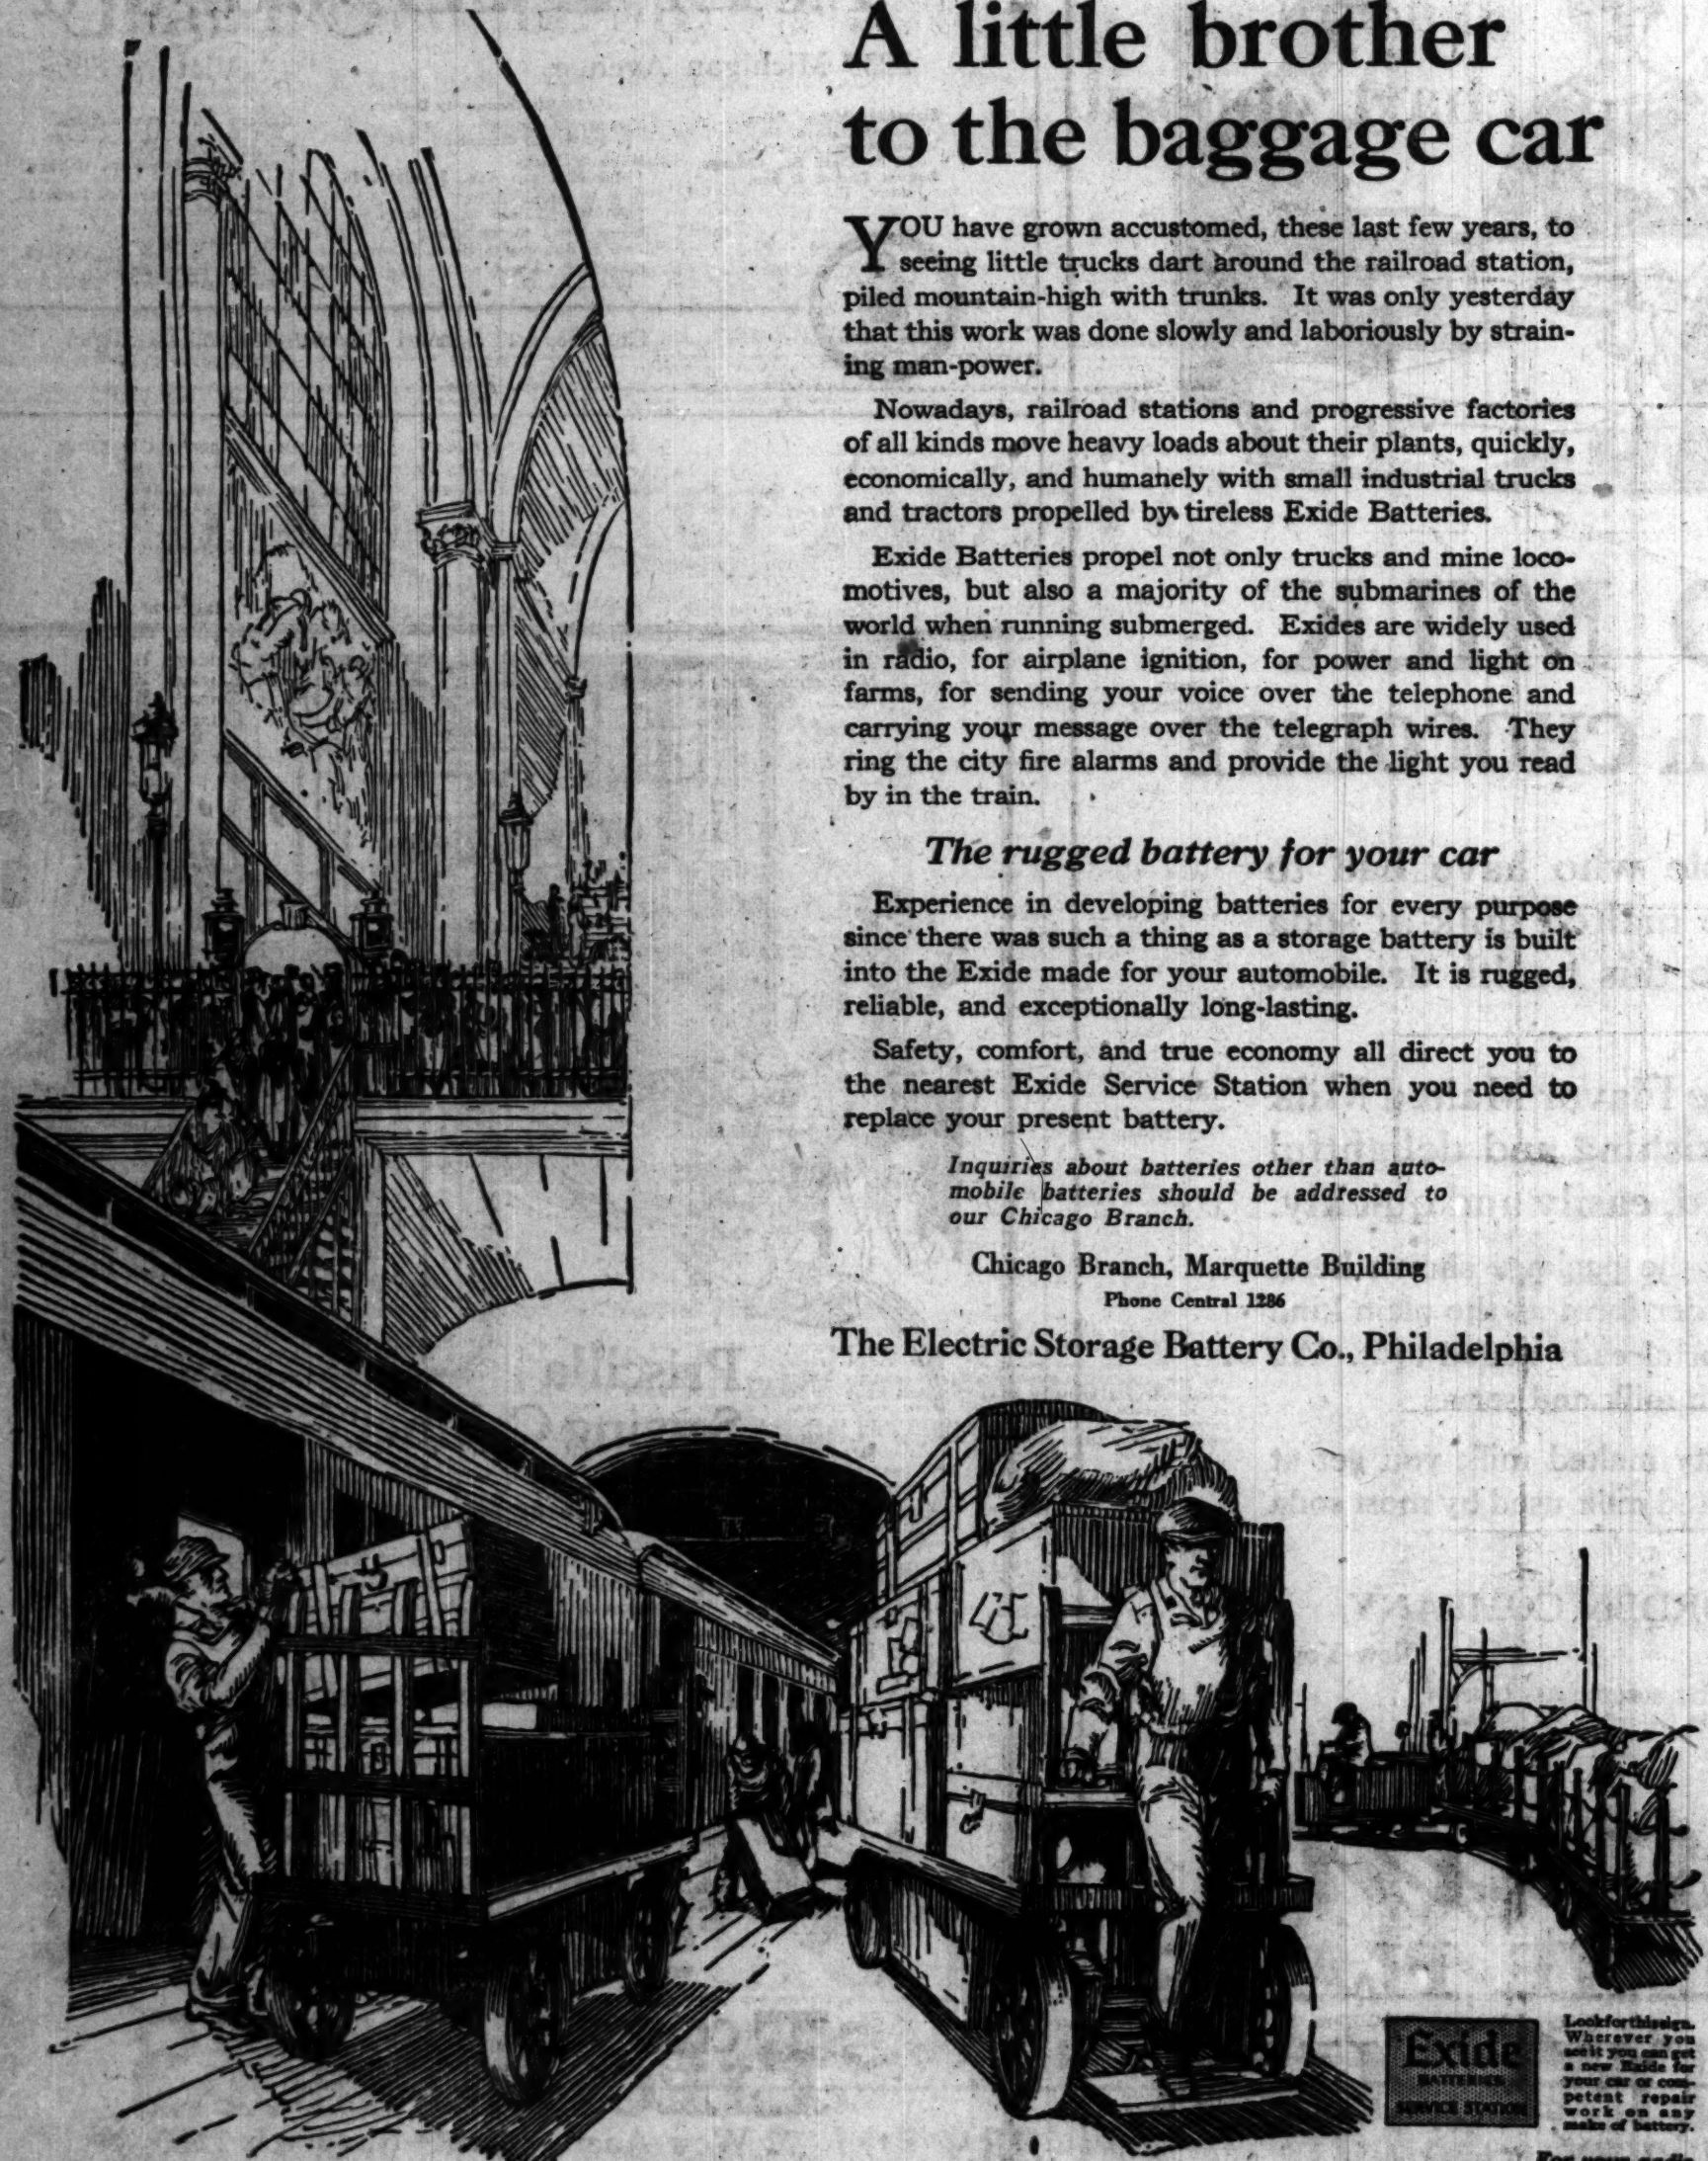

Experience in developing batteries for every purpose since there was such a thing as a storage battery is built into the Exide made for your automobile. It is rugged, reliable, and exceptionally long-lasting.

EAT MORE WHEAT

Why The Best Bakers Use Gold Medal Flour

People think for themselves these days. They are thinking a lot, for instance, about the food they eat.

The more thought people give their food, the more they seem to appreciate the wholesome, nourishing qualities of bread—the good old-fashioned bread that has always been the foundation of the diet of healthy, thrifty Americans.

We are all eating more bread, but not as much as we need.

The growing appreciation of bread is due to the high quality of the product of the modern bakery.

Better bread is always the product of better flour.

Better flour—Gold Medal Flour—is used by 15,000 of the most progressive bakers.

The baker is a master of food preparation. The standards of baking were never as high as they are today. The "rule of thumb" in baking has been replaced by scientific methods and as a result the flavor, quality and energizing nutriment of bread are today higher than ever before.

A loaf of bread gives the greatest food value for the least money.

Bread is your cheapest—your most nourishing—your best food.

Eat bread for your health.

Another slice at every meal.

Channing Pollock Plans Stock Company.

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—The Dollar Show is about to return. Channing Pollock can make good on his promise. Mr. Pollock announced that he hopes to get a theater for production of dollar shows next season. And today along came the Selwyns and said Pollock could have the Apollo in 42d street. Lady Northcliffe, Publisher's Widow, Weds Liberal Chief

BY JOHN STEELE

Considerable surprise was occasioned in London tonight by the announcement of the marriage of Viscountess Northcliffe to Sir Robert Arundell Hudson, G. B. E. Lord Northcliffe died in August, 1922. Few details were given in the announcement which states that today in the chapel of Hartbury castle, Worcestershire, the Episcopal residence of the bishop of Worcester, the ceremony was performed by a special license of the Archbishop of Canterbury. The bishop of Worcester officiated.

Sir Robert and Lady Hudson departed immediately after the ceremony for Italy and they will not return to England until the middle of May. Sir Robert until last year was a chief agent of the liberal party and he is now treasurer of the National Liberal Federation and also a director of several insurance companies. The wedding comes as a bomb-shell among the late Lord Northcliffe's newspaper associates here as nothing has taken place to indicate such an event.

Lady Northcliffe, by her marriage, loses her house, Carlton Gardens, which was left to her during her widowhood. She has two mansions, however, at St. John's Wood, London. Lady Northcliffe settled on her shortly before her death.

Miss Bozich and Maj. Hamlin to Wed
Engagement of Miss Lucille Beverly Bozich to Maj. Harry F. Hamlin of the Edgewater Beach hotel was announced yesterday by the parents of the bride-to-be, Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Bozich, of 1412 Sheridan road. They are to be married in June.

The romance of Miss Bozich, well known as a musician and linguist, and Maj. Hamlin, for several years reported among his friends as "an eligible" bachelor, is said to have begun after a brief path runway rescue in which they shared last summer. Maj. Hamlin is an assistant United States district attorney, one of the appointments in the Chicago office following the election of President Harding.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question: Mrs. Ethel Hill, 4000 North Racine avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.
What would you do if you had an income of $1,000,000 a month?
[Where Asked.]
7 South Dearborn street.

Miss Ann Smith, 4410 Dover street, stenographer—Do you mean that? A million a month? A MONTH? Well, first I'd contribute to some good orphan asylum—I'd bet I would—then I'd send my folks to Florida, and then I'd have clothes galore.

Louis Santamariano, 1818 South Dearborn street, student—No, I'd get away from congested Chicago with my lack of freedom. I'd buy a fine horse—no, sir, no automobile—a fine horse like "Sally" the alley, and I'd travel every nook and corner in it.

H. L. Haemker, 7200 South Halsted street, housewife—I'd get away from congested Chicago with my lack of freedom. I'd buy a fine horse—no, sir, no automobile—a fine horse like "Sally" the alley, and I'd travel every nook and corner in it.

Mrs. Stanley Williams, 19 West Erie street, housewife—I'd get away from congested Chicago with my lack of freedom. I'd buy a fine horse—no, sir, no automobile—a fine horse like "Sally" the alley, and I'd travel every nook and corner in it.

REMARKS: Mr. Carey is, as usual, graceful and debonair, able on horse back, and quick at the trigger. A nice, likeable chap who gives you the illusion that quite possibly he COULD put over the stunts that are put over by the hero in "Canyon of the Fools."

CLOSEUPS.
Sylvia Bremer, who hasn't been doing so much lately, though four years ago she started with a bang, in "The Girl of the Golden West." So pleased is First National with her work that she has been given a long time contract.

Close on the heels of the announcement that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was to be filmed by Principal Pictures comes a denial saying this corporation has altered its plans to permit P. A. Powers, another film producer, to put it on. Mr. Powers, it seems, had long been hankering to make the picture, and the head of Principal Pictures, hearing of it, gracefully stepped aside. Nice thing for them to do.

Molnar Spins Gay Yarn of a Haberdasher

"Peter and Paula" Is Captivating Play.

"PETER AND PAULA."
A comedy in three acts by Ferenc Molnar; translated from the Hungarian by Benjamin Glaser. Presented at the Playhouse April 2, 1932. The cast: Peter D. P. Hargis
Adelle Beth Merrill
The Aristocratic Lady Eugene Webb
The Young Gentleman Frank Peters
Paula George Frenn
The Countess Edwin Richards
The Delivery Woman James Hagen
The Maid John Rogers
The Chambermaid Patricia Haden

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.
While the trumpets sounded for Mr. Galsworthy and the Russians this quaint and together delightful comedy has slipped quietly into the Playhouse, bringing joy to its train. Inspection discloses it to be rather the most captivating thing in town.

It is the satirical Molnar in playful mood, telling, with many a gay and ironic touch, the story of Peter Juhasz, who was too good to live. A flibbertigibbet clerk took his wife and his savings, and he forgave that, saying it didn't matter about the money and the recent lady mustn't cry. His creditors took his men's furnishings store and he was nice about that, too.

Then he fell in love with his ex-stenographer, who had been making eyes at a count, and she told him she preferred luxury and intrigue to any honest romance with a poor man. So, coming into a bit of money, he gave it all to her for an experimental venture in high life, to be made without sacrifice of virtue. Also, without him.

He furnished a fine job the count had given him because he let himself be bamboozled by everybody, and he drove his friends distracted by his "disposition of a saint." Finally he got his shop back, and just as he was about to make a mess of things all over again shooting at a record of 1,000 Michigan men as dinner guests. President Marion L. Burton of Michigan will be the principal dinner speaker and will arrive in time for an afternoon reception. Prominent Michigan alumni from cities several hundred miles distant have promised to attend.

Mr. Mabbatt, a graduate of Yale class of 1919, is the son of Mrs. Mary S. Mabbatt of 207 East Chestnut street. He and his sister, Judith, are one of the most popular members of the most exclusive social circles.

Much the same crowd which assembled at the Arts club early last month for the wedding of Mr. Mabbatt and Miss Gurley, are expected to be present at the wedding of Mr. Mabbatt and Miss Gurley, which will take place at the home of Mr. Mabbatt's parents, 207 East Chestnut street, at 2 o'clock on Saturday.

The wedding will be a simple affair, with only the immediate family and a few friends. The bride will wear a gown of white tulle, and the groom will wear a tuxedo.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Blau of Burlington, N. C. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and is now residing in Chicago.

The groom is a graduate of Yale and is now residing in Chicago. He is a member of the Yale Athletic Club and is a very popular young man.

HOW TO WIN A MAN

Money-Making Girl of Today Should Let Men Know That Only True Love Can Win Her, Not Just Purse-Proud Flirting

Miss Blake continues today her series of articles of advice to young women readers of The Tribune who find themselves facing life without romance.

BY DORIS BLAKE.
Has romance died out in the young? "I am a stenographer, 23 years old," writes Evelyn. "I have had beaux since I was 15. Well, some of them were passable, some were nice, some were desirable, none of them knew how to love."

"They'll squeeze your hand and say, 'Hello, Kid,' and take you on the merry-go-round or on the scenic railroad and laugh and joke—above all, joke. They will repeat a thousand vaudeville jokes and cartoons. But never, never a word conveying a sincere feeling for you. A sincere longing for you."

"It seems that modern love making expresses itself only in action, not in thinking. In running about—going some place, seeing things. Everything is external. No real feeling, no real insight."

"Not one of the boys could sit with me for five minutes and look at the trees, the grass or the river, the lake and the water and say something nice about it, as they are made to say in books. On the other hand, now that I am older and experienced, I find that these very things, this love for nature, this real sentiment about love, is found in married men."

"O, how they would like to sit with me and moon and talk poetry, or anything in the intellectual line; talk about beauty, talk about sentiment, talk about big dreams. Now, in heaven's name, what has happened?"

"Why don't they do this before marriage to the girls they marry? Why do it after they are married to other girls or some other men's wives?" "EVELYN."

Well, my dear little girl, the answer is this. This thing is passing. We are getting into a new age. It will be the very practicality of the age that will finally usher in the real sentiment.

What is the answer? It is not to be found in the age through which we are passing, the real, hectic, money getting, and money spending age? Who knows but woman's entry into the fields of commerce may supply the very practicality which will finally usher in the real sentiment.

Girls today are making real money. They may go out and have a very good time by themselves. They can afford a theater—a bit after the theater—and they have a self-respect now which they never before had. They are already—will let the young men know that they are not out for just the money they may have to spend upon them. They are out for the man, with a man's personality, and that he must have to offer them.

He will not be able to take a girl who is not a breadwinner.

Is the Tribune tomorrow Miss Blake will continue her series dealing with the problems of young women who would learn to attract desirable suitors.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.
Would Ban Stiff Collars.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—"I wish," said Hugo Rosenfeld, impresario of three moving picture houses on New York's Broadway, "that stiff collars could be prohibited by law. I think they are awful, and I have to wear them because of my business, especially when I conduct the orchestra. I don't mind stiff shirts, but collars! I want to tear them off and fling them out the window."

Which is the aim and ambition of many a man, but thus far there is no friendly law of the land. Rosenfeld likes shirts with neat little patterns. Every time he passes a haberdasher's he wishes he could go in and buy all the attractive figured shirts in the window. Some checks and some find great favor with him. His ties are always dark. He is partial to a bow tie, but finds difficulty in executing the bow, expressing great envy and admiration for the man who can do it neatly and expeditiously.

Mr. Rosenfeld sticks pretty much to dark blues and dark grays in sack suits. "When I put on brown I feel gay," he told me. He wears double-breasted jackets a great deal, as he considers them becoming to a slender figure; which they are. For overcoat Mr. Rosenfeld wears a form-fitting black with silk-faced lapel.

Fashionable.
An attractive combination caught my eye today. A dark blue suit, gray shirt, purple tie with quite large green polka dots, a green muffler the color of the dots in the tie, gray topcoat, and light gray hat.

An attractive combination caught my eye today. A dark blue suit, gray shirt, purple tie with quite large green polka dots, a green muffler the color of the dots in the tie, gray topcoat, and light gray hat.

Two Notable Easter Week Weddings to Take Place Today

Two of the most interesting weddings of Easter week will take place today, one this afternoon in Chicago and the other tonight in Evanston. Only the relatives and a few friends have been asked to attend the marriage of Miss Katherine Shortall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Shortall of 329 Barry avenue, in Harry J. Dunbaugh, son of Mrs. Emma J. Dunbaugh of Chicago, but more friends have been invited to the reception which will follow the ceremony. The Rev. Norman Hutton will read the service at 4:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents.

The bride will be attended by her sisters, Miss Helen Shortall and Mrs. Franklin Head Perkins, and Valdo Todd of Chicago will act as best man for Mr. Dunbaugh.

A large assemblage of friends and relatives, including several relatives of the bridegroom from other cities, will witness the ceremony which will take place at the residence of the bride's parents.

SCIENCE FINDING WAY TO GET OIL IN WASTE COALS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Reports recently made by chemists of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, cooperating with the bureau of mines in investigation of the waste coals of a Pennsylvania field, assure another source of gasoline and lubricants, when asphaltic free oils are used.

As North America contains roughly four-sevenths of the world's coal, the results obtained in the meager investigations already made, give only a slight idea of the immense oil resources of products now classed as waste. Only the cheapness of the present supply of liquid oil and merchantable coal waste in the way of their commercial exploitation for oil, lubricants, and gas.

Coals now left in the mine or thrown on the dump in Pennsylvania field are found to yield from 27 to 33 gallons of reliable fuel oil per ton on distillation at comparatively low temperatures.

This result is obtained from a mixture of coal and oil, usually left in the mine as roofing, and bone coal, which occurs between the merchantable veins. The bone coal is thrown away.

In addition to the oil yield, distillation gives 4,500 cubic feet of gas per ton, 3 to 10 pounds of ammonium sulphate—a fertilizer base—and a 75 per cent yield of a smokeless fuel, not as good as coke, but available for many of its uses. Carbonized by itself, the bone coal yields no solid fuel, the residue not being combustible, but its yield of oil and gas is about half that of good bituminous coal.

Work being carried on in North Dakota by the bureau of mines to develop uses for lignite is achieving promising results. Practical carbonization for some of the lignite has been devised.

Despite the prospect of increased oil development and lively competition in the industry, despite the increased interest in the California oil fields—oil development leading to make more remote the day of profitable shale oil exploitation, the flow of capital into that form of prospecting increases.

Over 25,000,000 acres of shale lands have been patented in Colorado alone. Over a dozen types of retorts are being tried out at various places. Tests in one Colorado valley show that, if only the cream of the shale is taken off, a yield of 25 gallons of oil per ton can be obtained. If 65 per cent of the shale is mined and treated, the yield averages 25.5 gallons per ton. Its partisans declare that the Colorado shale is more heavily impregnated with oil than others.

One man's guess as to what's in the ground is probably as good as another's to date, but there is a definite guess that the Utah shales alone contain more oil than the whole supply of liquid petroleum in the United States. With per capita consumption in America increasing from 25 gallons in 1900 to some near 80 at present, these resources are no longer mere potentialities.

With all these revelations, the ques-

Scientists are whether these pesky scientists, who are always finding out new ways to do things or to get things done, are not to be suppressed. They make very hard on our politicians who are trying to regulate everything and everybody on the basis of things as they are. About the time these hard working statesmen have caught up with the industrial march and slapped on appropriate regulations and taxes, one of these scientific bugs tears a hole through the whole shebang.

These new oil sources, for instance, are announced right after some of our saving statesmen and just finished a nice new highway—$1 gasoline. The talent which constructed this scarecrow is quite evidently the same that produced the packer scare in 1919, when we were told that Armour, Swift, Morris and Cudahy were about to grab off the whole United States. They are pictured as a "Mittie Europa," comparable to the "Mittie Europa" world power program of 1917. There were investigations, more laws and a whole flock of new jobs. Packer by-products companies were pictured as the Grab-it-alls, which were about to take over all the grocery stores, shoe stores, and everything living around loose. Then the confounded things turned in and lost money. This was very annoying to statesmen.

Illinois Power and Light.

W. B. J.—The Illinois Power and Light corporation has acquired and merged a group of established public service enterprises and supplies electric power and light, gas, heat and city railway properties in a large number of municipalities in Illinois. Service is rendered to over 300 municipalities. It is issuing $30,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 6 per cent bonds, series A. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on properties operating without competition in Danville, Urbana, Champaign and Decatur and by collateral lien, through deposit of securities, on various other properties. All these properties have a valuation substantially in excess of the total debt. The properties on which these bonds are a first mortgage or lien free of prior encumbrances alone produce net earnings considerably greater than interest charges on this issue. The company has outstanding $37,000,000 divisional bonds ahead of this issue. Net earnings for the twelve months ending Feb. 28, 1923, were $7,833,133, or over twice the annual interest charges of $3,797,569 on the total outstanding mortgage debt. For the two years ending on that date net earnings averaged $7,833,133. We regard these bonds as a sound investment.

JOSEPH MEDILL
STILL A POWER
AS PUBLICISTToday Is Centenary of His Birth.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT
This day brings the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Joseph Medill. For forty-four years he was the guiding mind of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and it is by reason of what he did that this newspaper is today what it is. He died twenty-four years ago, but he still is a living factor in the daily councils and the large policies of THE TRIBUNE, not because he established a hard-and-fast TATUM tradition, but because he created and bequeathed TATUM'S ideal.

He is not alone an abiding influence but an abiding personality. His aspect, figure, touched with the distinction which comes with plain living and wealthy thinking, his mild but searching eyes, his decisive manner, his quiet but commanding demeanor, still are vivid and still is he spoken of, even by the younglings of the staff, as "Mister Medill"—as though he might at any hour be coming among them with instruction or with counsel.

Lived in the Present and the Future. That the personality and the "feel" of this man should be thus pervasive after nearly a quarter of a century that he should seem to be going along with us in our present and future, is a fact of our future, is highly eloquent of the kind of man and mind he was. He lived in the present and the future. At the age of 40—when most men of mark in our time are about ready for significant tasks—he had finished a great work in the world that work was the sustaining of the west of his country to the burdens and griefs of the civil war.

Thirty-four years remained to him. They were given to new constructive work. He neither talked nor wrote about old times. His mind was not intent upon colleagues in the great struggle who had vanished or who were resting upon the oars. (This was unfortunate in a way, for it caused him to leave but a scant store of written reminiscences.) When he reached the age at which most men become meditative and musing, when, in other words, he had passed 60, his mind and pen were intent upon Blaine, McKinley, and—locally—the elder Charles Harrison, and upon our city. He was seventy when the World's Fair came, but for him it was not a mere reminder of a long life might elude, but a renewal of his youth and of his fresh tasks.

Believed U. S. Had Mission. He had passed 75 when the war against Spain was declared. He brought to the problems which its fighting successes created the breadth of vision he had brought to the problems of the civil war. In short, he was an expansionist, not because he believed in easy terms was good for his country, but because he believed that his country had a mission and that the establishment of freedom everywhere was at once the most sacred and the most practical part of that mission. Being for the war against Spain, he said so vigorously, calling those who were not for it "passive men stockholders." As was his way, he called them that by name.

He was an expansionist, but also intensely a nationalist. He did not believe his country's work in the world was to be done by calling in some other part of the world to help us do it. No publicist in America had a profounder fear of the enfeebling alliance. He was frankly a chauvinist. He believed that the United States was the finest country on earth, that Chicago—despite Democrats—was the finest city in that country and that THE TRIBUNE had more character and more service than any other newspaper in the world. But he knew, and that knowledge saved him from flamboyance—that victorious chauvinism carries with it heavy obligations. He liked to take in his newspaper an attitude of "we've got the ship—money too"—and we've got the money too," he also was mindful that we see that we had them. I don't see them.

His View of Chicago. As to Chicago, he always thought big and good—though it required passionate optimism to do that when he first came among us sixty-eight years ago—but he believed in a bigger and better Chicago. In working out that ideal he bent to the immediate need, like the task of rehabilitating a world in the fire department. That was during the development of a worthy public life. It was another of the vital tasks.
